

THE GREAT AUTO RACE

Prospect That it Will be Greatest Event Held in United States

THE DARING LESCAULT IN THE SIMPLEX.

The Lightning Speeders Practicing on Course Every Morning From 4.30 to 6 O'Clock—Notes, Roads, the Arrangements and the Famous Drivers—Great Demand for Tickets Out of Town

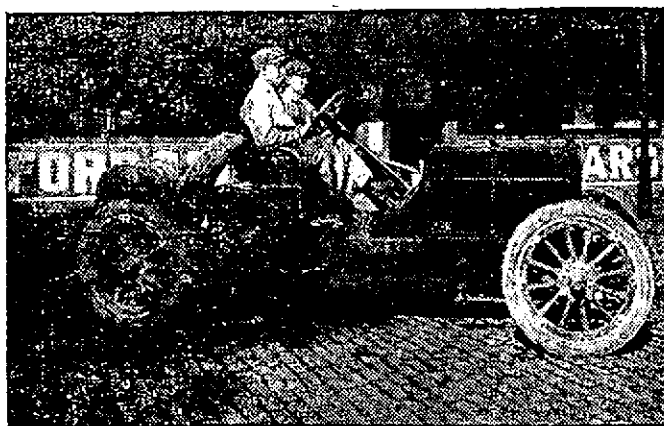

The heavy fog and cold weather this morning prevented the auto racers from performing speed stunts over the race course. While the machines that did traverse the course went fast enough for the people who never witnessed a race, it was rather tame to the red hot enthusiast who desires to see the operators battling with Father Time.

The interest in the big contest is increasing daily and these must have been two thousand people distributed over the course this morning to witness the tryouts. When persons employed in the mills who have to report at work at 6.30 a. m. will arise early enough in the morning to walk up to the boulevard, spend a half hour or so watching the machines go round, and then take a car back to the city that in the event of meeting a private car the racer would do everything possible to avert an accident even at the risk of ditching his own machine, but he is not anxious about having to contend with any of these affairs.

Fog Over the Course

The prospects of covering the course this morning looked very vague at one time as the fog was very heavy and the cold was intense, especially when driving in a car at a fast rate of speed. While the majority of the drivers were waiting for the fog to rise and give them a chance to have a clear view of the course Al Foote, the driver of the Isotta car, who arrived in this city yesterday afternoon, swung into the speedway and opening the throttle while sent the Italian car flying through the fog. The recklessness

GEORGE ROBERTSON IN THE FIAT.

In time to get to work, there is no doubt but that the interest in this event is on the increase.

Long before the break of day this morning people were assembling on the boulevard, and by 5.30 o'clock there was a solid mass of people near the junction of Dunbar avenue and the speedway. All along the local portion of the boulevard people were lined up watching the benzine wagons as they came-chugged along.

Those who have witnessed the machines running on the straightaway for several mornings are now beginning to pick out points along the course where there is a chance to see some clever driving. The straightaway courses being too tame for them.

This morning there was quite an aggregation at the end of the old portion of the boulevard, where the machines shoot from the heavy travel side of the double course into the new portion of the boulevard. There was also quite a number located at the junction of the trotting park road and Varnum avenue on the back stretch, though the centre of attraction seemed to be at the bad curve of Dunbar avenue and the boulevard. Naturally this location would be where the big crowd would congregate, for it is the first point reached by people coming from the different parts of the city.

Large Turnout of Autos

The owners of automobiles turned out in large numbers, and stationed their machines at points of vantage along the course, though it is a very dangerous trick to try to put a machine over the course while the racers are speeding around, for it endangers the lives of the racers as well as the occupants of the cars.

Lescault, the driver of the Simplex machine, in discussing the matter of automobiles traversing the course while the racing men are having their tryouts, said with which Foote was speeding his machine caused the spectators to marvel. A few minutes after he started the Fiat, the two Knox cars, the Buick and Simplex swung into line and went off at half minute intervals.

After leaving the boulevard proper the drivers had to slacken on their speed as in some places they could see only a few feet ahead of the machine and it was exceedingly dangerous to attempt to let out.

The drivers, after making one round of the course, began to feel the cold, and several of them felt up after making a couple of turns of the course in order to get warm. While the fog on the main stretch was very heavy, it was much worse on the back stretch and when the fog started to rise the road was clear in some places, while in others it was almost impossible to see the sides of the thoroughfare.

Sharp Turn Into Boulevard

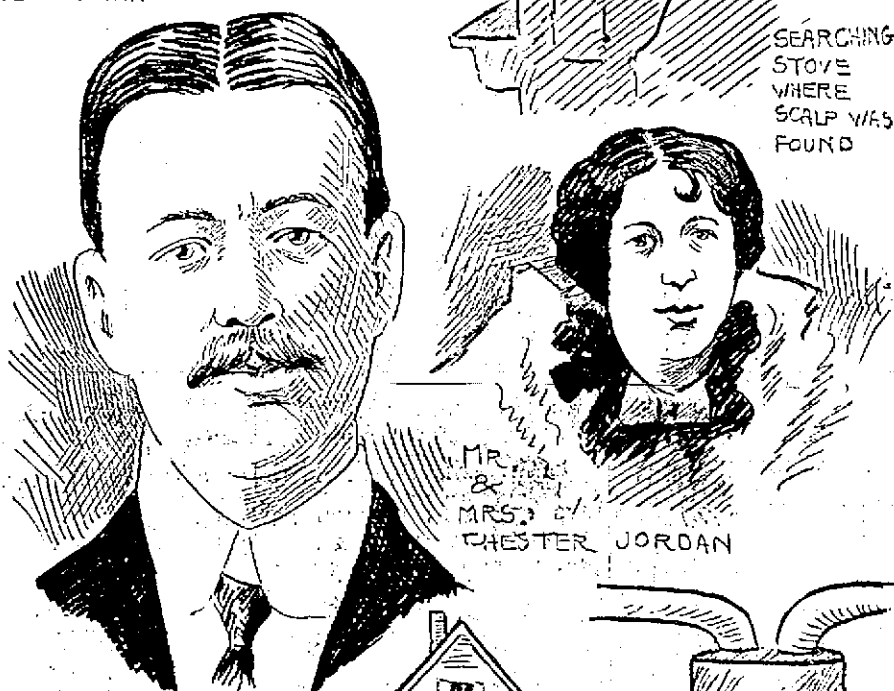

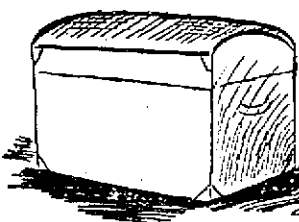

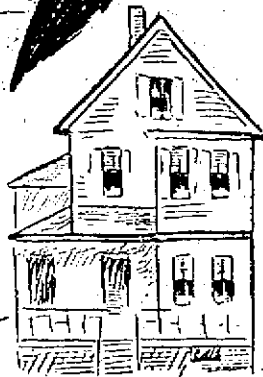

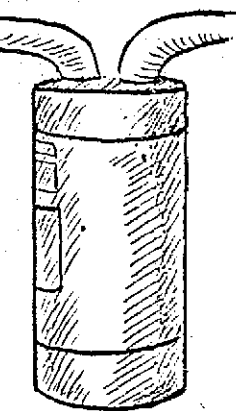

In making the sharp turn from the old into the new boulevard the fog was so thick that Burman in the Buick side-raked a couple of posts erected for the purpose of wiring off the course, but he did no damage to his machine. A little later, however, he met with difficulty, which made him give up his tryout and he was compelled to bring the machine back to the garage. He had covered the first lap and was traveling through the lower end of the boulevard when he blew out a spark plug.

All of the machines have met with more or less trouble, but this is expected, for while driving a machine at the high rate of speed it is very easy to put a car out of commission for the time being. No serious accident has happened as yet, however. All of the operators have parts enough to almost

CHESTER JORDAN AND HIS VICTIM AND SKETCHES IN CONNECTION WITH THE TRAGEDY.

He Cut Her Body to Pieces and Packed Them in a Trunk—He Threw Her Head Into a Furnace—Chester Jordan of Somerville, Had Planned to Take Remains to Sea and Cast Them Afloat—He Pleaded Not Guilty of Murder

BOSTON, Sept. 4.—Murder in all its fearful gruesomeness, outrivalling the dark deed of Blondin, the terrible crime at Weston for which Charles Tucker paid the penalty, and all the dread list that the criminal history of New England has ever embraced, led to the finger of guilt being placed on the shoulder of Chester S. Jordan of Somerville last night, branding him as the slayer of his wife.

Jordan is a brother-in-law of Jesse L. Livermore, the millionaire cotton plunderer, and formerly was in Livermore's employ.

Most atrocious was the crime, parts of the dismembered body of the woman whom he was supposed to love found here and there, the hair and the scalp in the kitchen stove of their apartment at 509 Medford street in the city of Somerville, the skull brought forth with the thigh bones from the fire pot of the furnace in the cellar, and the torso found by the slouches of the law in a trunk which the wretched man had carted about Boston half the day, only to finally bring it in desperation to a furnished room at 7 Hancock street, an act which proved his undoing.

Jealousy, Police Say

Chester S. Jordan is under arrest and he has told his story—looked on almost in the light of a confession, the police say. Jealousy was the cause that led to it all.

The wife was jealous of her fine appearing husband. The prisoner himself "mild sobs and tears gave out the story to Captain Dugan, who handles the unraveling of murder cases in Boston.

That act—the cutting up of his wife's body, the sawing of the bones, the gathering up of the dripping blood, the attempt to wipe out evidences of murder by the conception of garments, and finally, the conception of the mind to take the torso into Boston or to New York, and dispose of it with more cutting and the weighing of packages of flesh and bone by sinking them in the sea—all this did Chester S. Jordan admit last night.

Given Third Degree

The terrible third degree was placed upon him. He recalled that he had struck his wife Tuesday night. She had led him on to it. For two years she had been jealous of him. He could not stand it any longer, the continual pecking at him regarding the claim that he was giving his affections to others.

He struck her—the statement was repeated—he knocked her down and she fell down the back stairs of their apartment.

"I saw her fall," he said. "Officers, as God is my judge, I remembered no more until Wednesday morning." It came out, yet it was not a confession of murder. He had remembered nothing, he said, from the time that she had fallen, but this he did assert with more protestations of truth, that as he came down the stairs from his room at the top of the house, he found her body lying undelivered in the kitchen—that her throat was cut from ear to ear—and that, then, knowing that the whole world would hold suspicion of him, he had decided to cut up the body and dispose of it.

Tragedy of Many Parts.

There are many parts in the great domestic tragedy that last night stirred Somerville to its depths, and the telling of the dread tale involves many, both in the nature of witnesses and by reason of the fact that Jordan and his wife are so well known.

The dead woman was Elmerita O'Reilly, a native of England, and about 35 years of age. She had been an actress on the stage of the "Theatre," had played at the old Howard in Boston under the name of Irene Shannon and had met Jordan six years ago, while he also was engaged in the show business.

Number of Cases Tried Before Judge Hadley Today

Peter Johns was the complainant against Michael Dolan for assault on police court today. Dolan pleaded not guilty and was represented by Lawyer Donahue. When Johns was put on the witness stand he balked at taking the oath and when asked if he was a Christian replied that he was a Mohammedan. But a little thing like that couldn't keep this court and Peter was obliged to swear by the board of the prophet, which he did through an interpreter.

It seems that Johns and Dolan collided one evening on Centralville bridge and a mix-up followed. But Johns got to Officer Bennett first and Dolan was arrested. There were several witnesses for the defence and each described the affair in his own way. One called it a clout, another said it was a smash, a third described it as a shove, still another as a punch and finally Deputy Welch, to add to the picturesque of the language called it a "belt," whereupon Lawyer Donahue remarked: "What do you mean a championship belt?" When the evidence was all in, Judge Hadley promptly found the defendant not guilty.

Fife and Drum.

Poor old Patrick Drum was in as a vagrant and Judge Hadley immediately recognized him as an old timer who used to get in years ago and whose family has since passed away leaving him alone in the world in his old age. Drum will beat it to the farm. His appearance recalled the fact that long ago when Patrick used to appear in court, another old timer named Fife would get in about the same time, and many jokes were cracked about "Fife and Drum." But Fife has long since blown out, while Drum will beat it to the farm to await the sounding of "taps."

For Contempt.

Joseph Durant was a government witness in the Johns' assault case which was called in police court yesterday. When Durant's name was called it was found that he had not appeared although recognized to be present. Accordingly the case was continued and Durant was defaulted and a capias issued for his arrest. He was located in Chelmsford and last night was arrested and was locked up overnight. This morning he pleaded guilty to a charge of contempt of court and said that being unable to speak English he didn't quite comprehend the importance of the order of the court. The court upon learning that he had been locked up overnight let him go with the warning that if he failed to appear next Wednesday when the case is called he will be severely dealt with.

Boy Burglars

Frank Bergeron and Achille Lefebvre, two youths, were charged with breaking and entering the house of Charalopoulos Constantopoulos, and according to all accounts stole everything except the owner's name, which would require a job wagon to carry away. Their plunder included a watch valued at $5, a ring valued at $30, a breast pin valued at $8, two handkerchiefs and other small articles. They pleaded not guilty and were held in $300, until next week.

"Ladies" Fall Out

There was a rough-house in Silk street yesterday when Catherine Haskell and Kate Sutcliffe after a boozefest all night got mixing it up in their rooms. Margaret Rourke had a ring side seat during the contest and Georgia Brady, who lives down stairs, rushed up to serve as referee. Georgia said that when she dawned upon the scene, the two "ladies" were fastened into each other's hair while the lamp was smashed and there were interior decorations consisting of empty bottles. Catherine, the fair aggressor, was fined $15, to be paid in three days or two months in jail, while Margaret Rourke shoots for 14 days.

The Regular Cases

Thomas Duffy, a third timer, was sent to the state farm. John J. Leary, who was under a suspended sentence of four months, was sent up, the suspension being revoked. William L. Ferris, charged with being a common drunkard, was continued until Wednesday.

ILLEGAL KEEPING WANTS SISTER

Charged Against St. Charles' Hotel

Hugh F. Mellen, proprietor of the St. Charles hotel was summoned into court this morning on complaint of the liquor inspectors and was charged with illegal keeping. He pleaded not guilty and the case was continued until next Wednesday. It is understood that the government will claim that liquor was sold in the defendant's hotel after 11 o'clock.

Letter to Mayor Farnham Asking Help

The following letter, which is self-explanatory, was received by Mayor Farnham today:

Bangor, Me., Aug. 31 1908.
Mr. Frederick Farnham, Mayor, Lowell.
Dear Sir—I am going to write to ask you a great favor. Would you kindly help me find my sister, who lives in Lowell. I have not seen her since I was five years old, and though perhaps you being mayor would surely get some trace of her. The name is either Mary or Margaret Pichman. I have tried ever so many times to find her. Hoping I am not asking too much from you, I remain,
Yours respectfully,
Mrs. Vesta Fabey,
23 Ohio street,
P. S.—She used to live on Pine or Elm street.

BOYS' $1.50 KNEE PANTS 50c. He'll need a new pair or two for school—this is a great chance to get knee pants that are worth $1.50 for 50c a pair—every pair all wool and made to wear. The Merrimack Clothing Co.

St. Anthony's parish picnic, Labor day.

SALE OF SCHOOL CLOTHES. Boys' $5.00 school suits with two pairs of pants for $3.75. A few odd sized suits marked to $1.00. Wash suits about half price. All wool knee pants, worth $1.50 for 50c. Dollar waists in small sizes for 25c. You'll save good money by buying school clothes at the Merrimack Clothing Co.

LOWELL TOOK SECOND

Lynn's New Pitcher Was Pounded Very Hard

Lemieux Does a Fine Batting Stunt While the Team Played An Errorless Game

In the second game Warner and Lemieux did the stunt for Lowell and McCreehan and Dunn did similar honors for the visitors. Shea was sent to right field to take McCreehan's place.

FIRST INNING.
In the first inning Wallace hit to Cox and was out at first, Warner covering the base. Barton fled to McCreehan. Gardner then sent the ball over the right field fence for a home run. Dunn hit to Magee. In the latter half of the inning Vandergriest got a free pass. McCreehan bunted to Lovell, who threw him out at first. Vandergriest tried to make third and was muffed. Magee got a base on balls but was muffed in trying to steal second.

Score—Lynn 1, Lowell 0.
SECOND INNING.
Cummings sent the ball into right garden for a three runner and Ort followed with a single to right field, scoring Cummings. Ort tried to make second and was out. Shea and Lovell fled to Magee.

In the latter half of the inning Howard drew a base on balls. Heard struck out and Howard walked to steal second, but fell by the wayside.

PRESCOTT ST. BARGAIN SHOE STORE

Mothers and fathers, you will need to have

SHOES FOR THE SCHOOL CHILDREN

The place to get the shoes is at Mike Schwartz, where you can get shoes at almost half price. They are strong and rugged and will wear longer than almost any other shoe made. Our expenses are small and our profits also. We are working all the time making shoes at our Prescott and Palmer street, big bargain stores. Bring in the children and we will fit them.

PEOPLE NEVER TIRE

At least, they don't seem to of our Fresh from the Oven Coconut Cakes. Of course there are reasons. They are as represented, fresh and absolutely pure also. The price may be some object, 7c a dozen. Choice fancy package goods from best makers that are fresh or you get your money back. Howard, the druggist, 197 Central street.

My! What a Stock You Carry.
"I had no idea you had such a large place. You wouldn't think so by looking at the outside!"
We hear such remarks so often that we think we had better lay more stress in our advertisements on the immense floor space we occupy. Two entire buildings, three stories each, filled with the latest designs in FURNITURE, CARPETS, STOVES, etc. All strong in style, quality and character. We can please the most fastidious, and at prices 25 to 50 per cent. less than Boston prices. Before buying any household goods, look our stock over. It will be to our mutual benefit.

A. E. O'HEIR & CO.
MERRIMACK SQUARE.

Mahon, Howard and McCreehan. Stolen bases—Vandergriest and Lemieux. Double plays—Ort and Lovell; Dunn and Gardner; Warner and McCreehan. Left on bases—Lynn 3. First base on balls—McCreehan 4. Struck out—By Warner 4, by McCreehan 4. Time—1:12. Empire—Cemetary. Attendance—150.

DIAMOND NOTES

Nothing doing until Labor day afternoon at 1 p. m. The game is delayed until 4 to accommodate the fans who will be at the auto races.

It tickled the fans to see "Bully Bill" McMahon at shortstop. Billy looked lively, but was not particularly strong at bat. He held the Virginia State League at bay. That this season, and that's going strong.

That boy Lemieux is certainly showing some stick work. Yesterday he got a single, double and triple, while the day previous he batted out two doubles.

Yesterday was Catcher Foster's birthday, and in honor of the event he was allowed to catch the first game.

Jim Wallace, from the home of great ball players, South Boston, is bawling the ball and over the lot for Lynn, just as he did when he and Tom Haffers, also from "four places," won the pennant for Haverhill. Wallace reports that big Jim Mahoney has been signed by Baltimore. Jimmie O'Neil, formerly third base for Lowell, has a new position at the Hub and plays with Reddick on Saturdays.

McCreehan hit to Vandergriest and was out at first. Wallace hit to Wolfe and met a similar fate. Barton singled, but Gardner hit to right field and heard nabbed the ball.

Cox drew a base on balls and Lemieux hit to Gardner, forcing Cox. Warner hit to McCreehan and was out at first. Vandergriest drew a base on balls and McCreehan fled to Lovell.

Score—Lynn 2, Lowell 0.

FOURTH INNING.
In the fourth inning Dunn struck out, Clemens singled, Ort hit in front of the plate and was out at first, while Shea fled to Howard.

Magee hit to Gardner and was out at first. Howard fled out to Clemens. Heard hit to McCreehan and was out at first.

Score—Lynn 2, Lowell 0.

FIFTH INNING.
Lowell got right into the game in the fifth and scored four runs.

Cornier opened the fifth inning for Lowell with a high fly that was grabbed by Clemens. Cox got a base hit. Lemieux hit to deep left for three bases and Cox scored. Warner hit to Lovell, who fumbled. Lemieux scoring. Vandergriest got a hit, Warner going to third. Vandergriest scored second, and he and Warner crossed the plate a moment later when Magee doubled. In the meantime McMahon had fanned, and Howard was the third out on a fly to Ort.

SIXTH INNING.
Lynn's final tally came in the eighth. Mr. McCreehan fled out to Vandergriest. Wallace hit for three bases, and scored on a hit by Barton. Gardner hit to Cornier, forcing Barton at second. Dunn struck out.

Lowell got two in the eighth. Cornier got a hit. Cox fanned after making several efforts to bunt. Lemieux hit for two bases, and Cornier went to third. Warner got a single, scoring Cornier. Lemieux going to third, scoring on a single by Vandergriest. Vandy tried to steal second and was put out. McMahon went out, Lovell to Ort. The score:

GREAT WRESTLING

Prokos and Hansen Bout Was Called a Draw

TENNIS SCORES Results in Tournament at Chelmsford

The finest wrestling match from every point of view ever held in Lowell was that between Young Prokos of this city and Fritz Hansen, the Swedish champion for the welterweight championship of America, in an associate hall last evening before a large and representative gathering of business and sporting men who were unanimous in the opinion that the match was of the finest order and one that would do much to beam the sport in Lowell.

The men wrestled for the entire receipt, side bet and the championship, and they had posted a forfeit to weigh 118 or under. In his anxiety to get under the weight Hansen brooded himself down to 114, while Prokos weighed in at 116. While the Prokos followers offered 10 to 50 on the Greek, a majority of those present expected to see Hansen turn the trick and were convinced that he would during the first hour when Prokos was doing all the work with Hansen on the defensive and taking things easy. They believed that Prokos would beat himself out and would be easy meat for the Swede after an hour or more had gone by. But they reckoned without their host and the doughty little Greek opened their eyes as to his ability and staying powers. The men went 2 hours and 35 minutes without a pin fall. Prokos got a flying fall, but it didn't go with Referee Gilligan, who, by the way, was a feature himself, and at the end it was apparent that the Greek had a slight advantage. The bout started at 9:20 and at midnight Sergeant Crowley called attention to the fact that the day for which the license had been granted had passed into history, and Referee Gilligan immediately declared the contest a draw. Both men left the ring reluctantly, each desiring of continuing. After the match Mr. Cann, manager of Young Prokos, challenged Hansen to a match in private this morning for a side bet of $50, but Hansen's manager, while willing to meet the Greek again, preferred to do it in public, looking upon the matter from a business standpoint. Both men appeared in perfect condition though as the match proceeded it was evident that Hansen felt the need of the four pounds he had taken off. The men had the utmost respect for each other's prowess and went at each other cautiously. They remained on their feet nearly an hour, but when they got on the mat they certainly went at it hammer and tongs.

Referee Jim Gilligan of Lawrence made a big hit with the crowd, and the management did well in securing his services. He demonstrated completely the fact that a wrestling bout can be run properly if the referee only knows his business. All roughing and other fouling were carefully eliminated as Gilligan threatened to disqualify the offender, and they couldn't slip in anything unobserved by Gilligan. After the match Messrs. Hunter and Hennessy were congratulated on all sides for providing such a fine attraction. For preliminaries, two midweight wrestlers entertained. They were probably not more than 7 or 8 years old, but they showed wrestling ability that was surprising. The crowd was immensely pleased with their work.

Joe Coutt defeated Harry Metropole in 14 minutes and 15 seconds, and the bout proved exciting. Coutt wasn't as strong as Metropole, but he was more scientific, and he finally worked his opponent into a bad box, then put on the power full force.

Young Jenkins of Worcester, one of the cleanest wrestlers that the Lowell fans have seen, threw Jack Fisher of Albany, N. Y., twice in about 15 minutes. Young Jenkins outclassed Fisher.

"Old Sport" John Turner held the watch in his usual accurate and affable manner.

TWO LOWELL MEN Wilder and Hyman Star in Golf Play at Rye Beach

RYE BEACH, N. H., Sept. 4.—Leading amateur golfers of Massachusetts and New Hampshire, as well as several players from the Metropolitan district and other communities who are summer residents here, competed yesterday in the annual open amateur golf tournament at the Abenaguel club, an organization of men conspicuous in business and promoters of clean, high-class sport, particularly golf. The club's course, charmingly located, swept by ocean breezes on one side and skirted by woodland on the other, is a nine-hole links of 2940 yards, but there is no more sporty course in New Hampshire, and for a nine-hole course it is an exceptionally good test of golf. Several of the players can testify to this after having played in the qualification. For example, Henry M. Wilder, of Lowell, after having played the course in record figures in practice, had a medal, and of well above $5 in the first round at match play, and he qualified with an $5.

The tournament will continue through today and Saturday, when the final match at 36 holes will be played for the Abenaguel cup, a magnificent trophy, on which P. W. Whittemore of the Brae-Burn and Brookline country clubs has twice had his name engraved in 1906 and 1907. If he wins the trophy this year he becomes permanent owner of the cup. Other winners of the trophy are: Evelyn Piermont Cobb in Chicago in 1902, George Carter of Haverhill in 1903, James C. Bachelder of Little Bear's Head, N. H., in 1904, W. R. Thurston of New York in 1905. In addition, each year there will be given to the winner a solid silver miniature cup and to the runner-up a silver cup. Other cups will be given to the winner of the defeated eight in the first 16 and to the winner of the defeated eight in the second 16, contested for at the same time and under the same conditions as those governing the match play in the first and second sets.

P. W. Whittemore won premier honors of the first day's play. He qualified with a score of 81, the best of the qualification, and in the first round at match play in the first 16 he defeated E. Pomeroy of the Abenaguel club by a score of 5 up and 3 to play, incidentally having three is for the last three holes for a 76. Two other players, H. M. Wilder and J. B. Hyman, qualified in the first set and both won their first round matches, though Wilder had a hard match with E. R. Cuendet of the home club, the match going to the home team, Cuendet losing an opportunity of squaring it by overdriving.

DRIVER ESCAPED HE JUMPED FROM WAGON JUST IN TIME

HAVERHILL, Sept. 4.—Joseph Witham, a teamster, escaped death yesterday by jumping from a pair of horses he was driving when struck by a Georgetown branch train at a grade crossing in the yard of the Taylor-Goodwin company in the Bradford district.

One of the horses was killed and the other it is expected will not recover. Witham was heading west to fill the wheel from the new high school lot and he had dumped a load and was returning when the accident occurred. He did not see the train approaching until his horses were on the track. The two animals were pushed off the track and flying instantly. The crossing where the accident occurred is on a curve and the train was concealed by a coal shed as it was slowing down in approaching the Haverhill bridge station.

The surveyor was ordered some time ago to turn the horses over to the original owners, but this has not been done as yet.

THE MOTH PEST

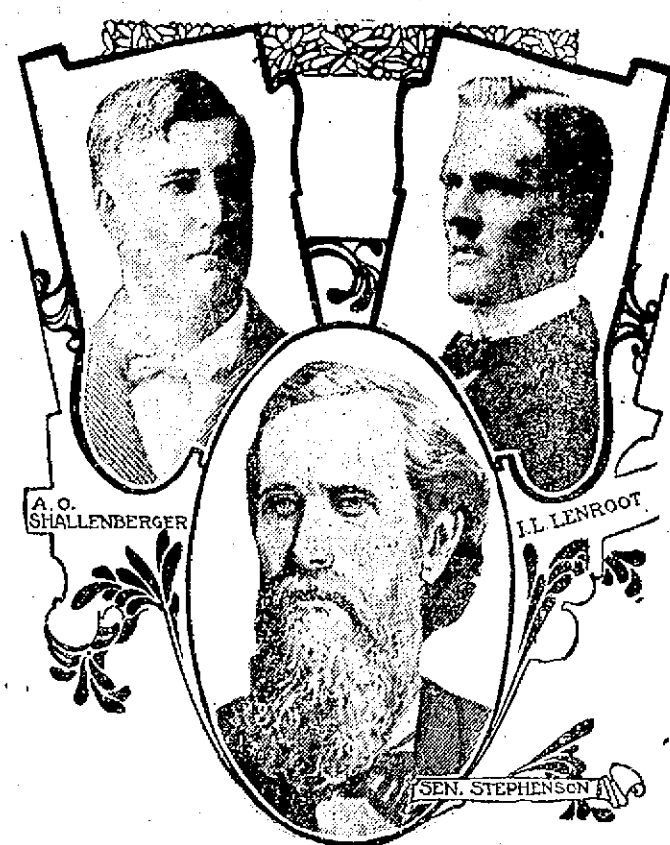

More Money to Fight
Browntails

PARK COMMISSION ASKS FOR $2500.

Supt. Whitte has a word to say—
Moths are beyond control of towns and cities—Lowell's trees are well preserved.

The park commission at a meeting held last night voted to ask for an appropriation of $2500 with which to fight the gypsy and brown-tail moths.
Supt. Whitte has stated that in order to fight the pests successfully the commission should be granted a generous appropriation early in the year in order that incessant war might be waged. To start at the moths and have to let up because of lack of money means that while waiting the moths get a fresh start.

Supt. Whitte said last night that the moth question was getting beyond the cities and towns and that state or federal action would soon be taken.
Asked as to the success of Lowell's fight with the moths up to date, Mr.
Whitte said: "If we hadn't done what we did last year the trees of Lowell would be stripped bare. We have saved the trees of the parks, school

FINE CANDIDATES

Named in Wisconsin
and Nebraska

MILWAUKEE, Sept. 4.—One of the features of the primary election in Wisconsin which caused wide-spread comment was the defeat by Representative John J. Jenkins of the Elveenth congressional district by Irvine L.

Lenroot, formerly speaker of the state assembly and a strong LaFollette follower. United States Senator Stephenson carried in the primary over S.
A. Cook of Nemah, A. C. Shallenberger claimed the democratic nomination for governor of Nebraska over James C. Dahlman, mayor of Omaha.

yards and streets. With $10,000 we could clean every tree in the city. Last year we destroyed 1,021,461 nests, and if you multiply this figure by 250, you will find how many caterpillars were destroyed at the same time. Since every nest holds from 200 to 400 caterpillars.

"And yet Lowell is not as badly off as the surrounding towns and cities. I went down past Hood's farm the other day, and about two and a half miles below the farm, found trees on which there was not a green leaf large enough to put a ten-cent piece on. And a farmer with whom I talked would not believe that it was the brown-tail moth that did this. He said that if I could show him printed matter proving it, he would believe, but not before. I according sent him some of the printed matter sent out by the state.

"The outlying towns are in a terrible condition, and are utterly unable to cope with the pest.
"Parasites are of no use, as yet.
The matter has been taken up by the government, but there are no results.
I am told by a Boston moth expert that a parasite can not be obtained which will do the work, and not become a pest itself.

"The method adopted by the government in Germany, where the Black forests have become infested, is receiving consideration, and experiments will soon be made in that line. The plan looks reasonable. It rests on the basis of a strong light attracting the moths, and then huge fans sucking them into receptacles for them. In this way lots of them are destroyed.
Of course that would have to be done by the government, as no city or town could stand the expense.

"I am sure that such a scheme could work, for my observations in that line have shown me that such methods are feasible. For instance, on the night before the Fourth, before the parade came down Thorndike street, there were hundreds of moths gathered around the electric lights in that vicinity. Suddenly a small boy lighted some red fire a little way down the street, and in a very few minutes there was not a moth to be seen around the electric lights, but they had all flown down to the stronger light made by the red fire.

"Near my house at the corner of Lawrence and Moore streets, last year there was a strong electric light, and the globe had a hole in the glass. Sometimes the moths would gather there in such numbers, and fly into the globe, that the light would be entirely obscured, and the moths would be packed inside the globe in a solid mass.

"Last year we received $10,000, of which $4500 went back to the city treasurer. The money was well expended in doing the work of cleaning the trees, and yet Lowell is worse off this year than it has been at all. It is impossible to estimate the number of moth nests in the city.

"Last week, with four men at work, we destroyed 3600 nests, but after that week, we will be unable to have any men at work, owing to the fact that the appropriation has run out.

"The gypsy moths are making no trouble at present, and no damage is being done. About May 1, or a little later, they will get in their work.
"The brown-tails are already out, and are doing the damage to the trees now. They will be out as long as we have warm weather.

"In order to show how the city is infested with them, when a guard on a tree, a small maple in front of H. B.
Greene's house in Stevens street, was taken off, there were found exactly 105 moth nests which were all destroyed.

"At S. N. Wood's residence in Hosford square, we took 876 nests, and from the Coburn estate near the city wall, we took over 600 nests.
"Some people think that all that is necessary to destroy the pest is to cut the nests off with a knife, and then leave them on the ground. The nests must be burned."

DOWN AT REVERE

MANY LOWELL PEOPLE EN-JOYED THEMSELVES.

Two jumbo trolley cars filled with excursionists left Lowell at 8.30 o'clock yesterday morning over the Boston and Northern street railway to Revere beach.

At 4 o'clock yesterday two jumbo trolley cars left Merrimack square for Swampscott. Here a fishing yacht was boarded and the day was spent in trying fishermen's good luck with the rod and line.

Miss Madeline Hear of the Boston & Northern street railway office, is enjoying her vacation at points of interest along the New England sea-coast.

Motorman George Small, of the Gorham street line of the Boston & Northern has returned to work after an eight days' respite from labor at Salsbury beach.

Motorman Bartley Cahill of the Lawrence street line of the Boston & Northern has returned from a week's safari at Nantucket.

Mr. Joseph Hart of this city, who is employed in the operating department of the freight car service of the Boston & Maine railroad at the North station, has returned to work from a very enjoyable vacation at Hampton beach.
He is a step-brother of Starter Walter Hickey, who does duty at Merrimack square.

Starter John Niles spent yesterday at Paragon park, where he went to meet a married sister, a resident of Springfield, whom he had not before met for a period of fifteen years.

ROWLAND RETURNS

IS ON HIS WAY BACK FROM LAS-RADOR.

NORTH SYDNEY, N. S., Sept. 4.—J. T.
Rowland of Greenwich, Conn., who accompanied Dr. W. T. Grenfell, the famed missionary, on his expedition to Labrador, was a passenger on the steamer Bruce from New Foundland, which arrived here yesterday. He was one of the party that sailed from Boston last July in the Penikese. He reports having had a thrilling experience with storms and ice in the northern regions, particularly in the gale that swept over the coast of Labrador and sent destruction to half a hundred vessels of the New Foundland fishing fleet. He states that according to a report reaching Dr. Grenfell, the American scientific expedition on board the schooner Lorna Doone, with Dr. Bryant at its head, had reached Nauyasoo on Aug. 19, and was still pursuing northward. All the members of the party are well.

Nothing has been heard from Commander Peary, but it is presumed that he is now well on his way for the pole.

ITHACA, N. Y., Sept. 4.—Dean Liberty Bailey of the New York State College of Agriculture at Cornell university, announced yesterday that he had accepted the appointment of President Roosevelt at the head of the commission of inquiry which is to investigate the condition of farmers and report plans for the betterment of rural life. Dean Bailey is a native of this state and was born in the appointment when it was made on account of the poor condition of the farmers in this state. He is a graduate of Cornell and has been connected with the university, but at the present request of President Roosevelt and a leave of absence having been granted by President
Schurman of Cornell he has reconsidered.

FIGHT IS ENDED

OVER THE WILL OF LATE WAL-TER F. BAKER

BOSTON, Sept. 4.—The sensational fight over the will of the late Walter F. Baker, a Harvard graduate and well known club man, who died of pneumonia at Boston, N.
J., Oct. 27, 1907, was ended yesterday by the filing in the supreme court of an agreement by the parties concerned as to a final decree which settles the will as allowed in the probate court. Baker's estate, it is estimated, amounted to nearly half a million, of which he willed $200,000 to his brother, Edward F. Baker of Boston.
He willed to Mrs. Helen Gray Hurd of Boston, N. J., and of the residue, one-third to Harvard, one-third to the children of his brother, and the other third to Natalia Hurd, the infant daughter of Frank H. and Mrs. Helen B. Hurd of Boston.
Natalia Hurd died last spring and her parents inherited their share.

A SPECIAL JURY

To Inquire Into Recent Race War Ad-journal

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., Sept. 4.—The special grand jury called to probe the recent race war was adjourned yesterday after returning 17 more indictments, this making a total of 117 during the session. Among those returned yesterday afternoon were indictments against four Springfield policemen, Oscar Dahlkamp, Joseph Fernandez,
George H. O'Hanlon and George W.
Dawson. They are indicted for alleged failure to suppress the riot when detalled for that duty.

The report continues in unmeasured terms "The cowardly, contemptuous action of these members of the police force, who having taken the oath of office, failed to do their duty."

CREW MUTINIED A MILITARY BALLTragedy on Chilean
Bark Eaton Hall

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 4.—News of a mutiny and a tragedy on the Chilean bark Eaton Hall during a stormy voyage, in which the vessel was dismasted, was brought here yesterday from Tahiti.

The Eaton Hall was bound from New Castle, Australia, to Valparaiso with a cargo of coal. On Aug. 12 when the ship was about sixty miles from Tahiti, a storm sprang up, tearing the masts out and littering the decks with debris. Subsequently, while Capt. McLean was making every effort to bring his almost helpless ship to port, the sailors became mutinous, and in the trouble that followed a sailor was killed. Finally the bark was picked up by a French power boat and towed to Papeete, where she will be repaired.

ISTHMIAN CANAL

The Work on it is Being Pushed This Year

WASHINGTON, Sept. 4.—The report called to the Washington office of the Isthmian Canal commission from Col. George W. Goethals, chairman of the canal commission, shows that the total excavation for the month of August was 3,552,500 cubic yards, place measurement, against 3,168,840 cubic yards in previous month, and 1,288,692 cubic yards in August last year, or an increase of 1,563,811 cubic yards over the corresponding month in 1907.

Closed Spanish War
Vets Reunion

BOSTON, Sept. 4.—The fifth annual encampment of the United Spanish War veterans which has been in session here this week, came to a close late yesterday in a most sensational session over the contest for the election of officers.

Following the first ballot for commander-in-chief, it was announced that Capt. Charles A. Simmons of Rochester, N. Y., had been elected by one vote over Captain Charles R. Newton, of Hartford, Conn. The announcement of the total number of votes, however, revealed the fact that five more ballots had been cast than had been checked off. The ballot was declared illegal and pandemonium prevailed. Commander-in-Chief Hale threatened to have certain members removed from the hall, and upon the statements of both candidates that neither wished to profit by any complication and only wanted fair treatment, the confusion subsided.

A second ballot was taken, which resulted in the election of Captain Charles R. Newton of Hartford, Conn., who received 182 votes, to 113 for Captain Simmons.

The other officers elected were as follows: Senior vice commander-in-chief, Charles E. Stroud, Sandusky, O.; Junior vice commander-in-chief, Moses R. Doyan, Indiana; sergeant-general, Capt. Edward H. White, Chicago; paymaster-general, S. T. E. Hayes, Colorado; commissary-general, Henry E. Schlimer, New York; chief of engineers, S. R. Cohen, Lexington, Ky.; chief signal officer, Isadore Well, New York; chief of ordnance, J. J. Hellberg, Wisconsin; chief of artillery, Captain Adna G. Clark, Kansas; chief mustering officer, William D. Wild, New York; national historian, Captain J. Walter Mitchell, Washington.

The installation of officers followed and last night the veterans with the members of the Ladies' Auxiliary participated in a military ball in the new State armory at Cambridge.

OFFICERS CHOSEN

BY THE UNITED ORDER OF COLORED ODD FELLOWS

HAVERHILL, Sept. 4.—The annual convention of the Grand and United Order of Colored Odd Fellows of Massachusetts, which was begun in this city yesterday, was concluded last night with a ball in City hall. At the business session yesterday officers were elected as follows:

District grand master, James R. Hunt, Haverhill; district grand secretary, James I. Epps, Cambridge; district grand treasurer, W. H. Tyler, Lynn; district grand director, H. J. Harvey, Springfield.

This afternoon a parade was held with about 1000 men in line, and was followed by an outing at York Club grove.

The next convention will be held at Cambridge in 1909.

A COMEDIAN

Gets $5000 a Week on Stage

NEW YORK, Sept. 4.—The engagement of Harry Lauder, the famous Scotch comedian, for an American engagement at a salary of $5000 a week caused a stir in theatrical circles. Cable reports say Lauder's manager had denied that the comedian's salary was to be $5000 a week, but New York theatrical men thought the denial was prompted by fear of the British income tax law.

PROF. A. S. WATKINS

NOTIFIED OF HIS NOMINATION BY PROHIBITIONISTS

ADA, O., Sept. 1.—Before a large audience last night Prof. Aaron S. Watkins was officially notified of his nomination as the candidate for vice president by the national prohibition party. The event was made the most of by the citizens and political partisanship was laid aside temporarily in the honoring of an esteemed townsman.

Robert Patton of Springfield, Ill., who was temporary chairman of the national prohibition convention, delivered the formal notification address.

When Prof. Watkins arose to respond the vast audience was on its feet cheering and waving hats and handkerchiefs, while little girls presented the candidate with huge bouquets of flowers. The ovation lasted several minutes.

Prof. Watkins was frequently interrupted by applause. He read a telegram of encouragement from the prohibition standard bearer, Eugene Chaffin, which again brought the audience to its feet.

SENATOR BORAH

SPOKE AT A REPUBLICAN RALLY IN BANGOR, MAINE

BANGOR, Me., Sept. 4.—The first republican rally here in this campaign was held in city hall last night, when an audience of about 1500 people heard speeches by U. S. Senator William E. Borah of Idaho, on national issues, and by Assistant Attorney General Warren S. Phillips of Waterville, on state issues.

Senator Borah dwelt chiefly upon the accomplishments of the republican party in the development of the country's resources and wealth, contrasting its record with that of the democrats. He addressed himself at some length to criticism of Bryan's policies and principles, and declared that one might as well try to reason with an anarchist as to persuade Mr. Bryan that his ideas, if carried into effect, would result in disaster.

FINANCE BOARD

REPORTS ON CONDITIONS IN REGISTER'S OFFICE

BOSTON, Sept. 4.—The finance commission sent its report to the mayor last night regarding its investigation of the register of deeds office of Suffolk county. It finds that in the last election years the expenses have increased 50 per cent while the increase of business, measured by the fees received, was only five per cent. The commission recommends that the legislature be petitioned to increase the fees, that the expense of clerical force be reduced, competitive system be used in selecting supplies, all appointments be subject to civil service rules, and that the register submit an itemized report of receipts and expenditures with a written estimate of amounts required for the coming year to the appropriating body.

GENERAL CONFERENCE

Of the District Epworth League Opened in Boston

BOSTON, Sept. 4.—The sixth biennial convention of the First General Conference District Epworth League opened a three days' session last night at the Bromfield Street Methodist Episcopal church.

Rev. Frank Hamilton, 154 D. St., chairman of the American university, presided over the opening session. An address of welcome for the city was delivered by Dr. George A. Hubbard and by the Methodist by Rev. John G. Gorton, district superintendent. The response was made by the president of the conference district, Rev. Charles L. Leonard, Pittsfield. The address of the evening was delivered by Rev. Charles L. Mead, D. D., of Newark, N. J., his topic being "The Social Power."

"AD" COURTSHIP BIGAMY CHARGE MAY BE YEGGMANEnds in a Suit for $10,000

NEW YORK, Sept. 4.—"I am a young lady, 22, educated and refined, fine complexion; large, sparkling brown eyes, brown hair, classical features; excellent health; artistically and musically inclined; good cook, housekeeper and seamstress; English-American, have $2000 and will inherit a farm of 30 acres. I desire to marry an honest, educated man. Will make a happy home if I find the right man."

Such was the advertisement which Owen W. Farrell, 50, read in a paper published in Toledo, O. He wrote to the fair one with sparkling brown eyes, and they met and plighted their troth. Now the "educated and refined young lady" is suing Farrell for $10,000 damages, charging him with breach of promise of marriage.

She, it turns out, is Miss Helen M. Scully, who lives here now. Farrell is a hotel keeper at Deposit, Broome county, N. Y.

Miss Scully, in her complaint, sets forth that on Dec. 12 last Mr. Farrell promised to marry her, and that relying on his promise she has remained "sole and unmarried."

Farrell, in his answering affidavit, tells of the matrimonial "ad" and of his correspondence with Miss Helena. She visited his mother and him at Deposit and the future seemed rosy to Farrell until the "good cook, housekeeper and seamstress" told him she had been exchanging letters with a man in Los Angeles and had determined to marry him because he lived "in a nice climate." However much Farrell suffered, he says prosaically in his affidavit that thereupon Miss Helena and he released each other from their engagement.

She went to California, he swears, but returning saying she would not marry the Los Angeles man because he "drank and was out of employment." Coyly she sought to renew her engagement with Farrell, but he repulsed her.

Woman Was Arrested at Hancock, N. H.

MANCHESTER, N. H., Sept. 4.—Charged with bigamy, Mrs. Mabel E. the wife of John R. Van Rensselaer, a musician of Paterson, N. J., was arrested in Hancock yesterday by Sheriff Fred K. Ramsey of Manchester, and being unable to furnish $400 bail, was brought to the county jail here tonight.

It is alleged that she married Van Rensselaer in Paterson in February, 1902. Then, without securing a divorce, it is claimed she married Chas. J. E. Hayward, a well-to-do Hancock farmer, in 1906. Hayward and the woman separated six weeks ago, and it is said he had since discovered that she has a legal husband in Paterson. Sheriff Ramsey went to Paterson, and at a conference with Van Rensselaer secured the affidavit upon which the prosecution bases its case.

Mrs. Van Rensselaer (that being the name specified in the complaint) has retained counsel, and at the hearing this afternoon before Judge White of Peterboro entered a plea of not guilty and waived examination.

The request by County Solicitor Amice Boivert that the case be continued to Sept. 11 was granted. Mr. Hayward accompanied the officers to the farm in Hancock yesterday, where she has been living since their separation.

Mrs. Van Rensselaer is a former actress and at one time lived in Chicago. Her first husband is a pianist and leader of an orchestra in Paterson.

THE FINAL TEST

OF THE MAXIM GUN-SILENCING DEVICE.

SPRINGFIELD, Sept. 4.—Hiram Percy Maxim's gun-silencing device received its final test yesterday at the hands of a board of officers attached to the United States armory, the test being to determine whether the device would afford protection to skirmishers or sharpshooters advancing on an enemy. The test is said to have been entirely successful.

Shots were fired at varying distances and in no case was the testing board disturbed by the sound of the direction of the shots, the distances being inaudible even at the shortest distance, 250 yards, and the officers being compelled to judge the direction from the whirr of the bullet.

Bad Looking Man Tried to Board Car

BUT CONDUCTOR WOOD PREVENTED HIM.

He Was Left Behind Near Nashua and Police of That City and Lowell Were Notified.

Car Conductor Joseph Wood of the Boston and Northern street railway, believes that he had a mild experience with a yeggman this morning while on his car from Nashua to this city. There wasn't any gun play or anything of that kind but "Joe" didn't like the looks of the fellow whom he believes was a yeggman.

It was at this side of Nashua that the fellow showed up. In broken English he told "Joe" that he had no money but that he intended to ride just the same. That noise didn't sound good to "Joe," and he "fired" the fellow from the car. Then he gave the motorman the go-ahead ding-dong and the supposed yeggman was left in the road. He made a motion when the car left him but did not produce a gun.

When "Joe" reached the next telephone he called Walter Hickey and told him of his run in. Passengers on the car told Mr. Wood that the Nashua police were looking for a man who fitted the description of the man that he encountered. He told the story to Walter Hickey and Walter immediately telephoned to the Nashua police. He also communicated with the local police. The Nashua police said that they were not looking for any particular yeggman and the Lowell police would not harbor the thought that a yeggman would even dare to turn his footsteps toward Lowell.

TWO BOYS SHOT

One of Them Not Expected to Live

PROVIDENCE, R. I., Sept. 4.—John Emond, aged 5, and his brother Frank, aged 7, were shot in the Silver Lake district yesterday afternoon by Miss Louisa A. Allen, housekeeper for John Morrison. John is fatally wounded and is in the Rhode Island hospital and Miss Allen is under arrest at the police station.

The shooting took place as a result of depredations wrought by kids in the orchard belonging to Morrison. Yesterday afternoon Miss Allen left the house on business, and on her return she found Morrison's mother, an aged woman, in a state bordering on hysteria, due to the actions of the boys. The housekeeper went to the window, carrying a loaded shot gun with her, and warned the kids that if they did not leave she would shoot. They had no effect, and the boys dared her to shoot.

Miss Allen says she then pulled the trigger once without intention to shoot any one. The kids allege that she fired both barrels and leveled the gun at them as she did so.

On being removed to the hospital the boy John was found to have received nine of the shot, some in the region of the heart, others in the chest and two in the abdomen. Frank Emond was also wounded, but less severely than his brother. Dr. Thompson, who was called in to attend the kids, gave it as his opinion that John's injuries were likely to prove fatal.

LARCENY CHARGE

Lawrence Contractor Placed Under Arrest

LAWRENCE, Sept. 4.—William Carroll, a well-known contractor of this city, was served with a warrant yesterday ordering him to appear in court to answer the charge of larceny of realty, the property of the city. The lodging of the complaint it is said, was at the request of Mayor Kane, after a number of complaints had been registered by residents of Richmond street, the locality from which Carroll carted sand to use in the work of cementing a sewer, for which the city awarded the contract at a very low figure.

The warrant was granted after a conference between City Solicitor D. J. Murphy, Acting Inspector Reineck, Police Court Clerk W. P. Noyes and City Marshal John Sheehan.

BOY WAS KILLED

HE FELL UNDER WHEELS OF COAL CART.

BOSTON, Sept. 4.—Before the eyes of an older brother, 5-year-old Johnnie McDermott was run over and instantly killed in front of his home by a coal wagon on Brookside avenue. Jamaica Plain yesterday afternoon after frightening the horses and falling from the seat of the cart.

The fatality occurred while Simon Fraser, driver for the Bradford Coal company, was in the McDermott house delivering coal. Both wheels passed over the child's head and abdomen fearfully crushing the body.

The parents of the boy collapsed on being informed of the fatality. The police say that the boy was responsible for the accident, as either he or his older brother Peter struck the horses with a switch that started them into a run.

Medical Examiner McDonald later viewed the remains and after saying that death was instantaneous, promptly issued the burial certificate.

ROOSEVELT AND HIS PROXY.

President Roosevelt has found it necessary to break his enforced silence long enough to say that Hughes of New York must be renominated for governor. The voters of New York will understand that in doing this, he is pleading for Taft rather than Hughes.

It is very peculiar that the president must run the politics of the individual states as well as of the nation. He may be expected soon to announce that Taft must be elected.

The president seems to be so concerned that he believes the country would go to smash if he were not on hand to steer things in the right direction. He contemplates a prolonged hunting trip to Africa, and with that in mind he hopes that he can leave Taft as a presidential proxy to run the country in his absence.

If we are to judge from the temper of the average business man today, as to the effect of these mandates from the president, we should expect that there would be a prompt revival of business immediately following Mr. Roosevelt's departure for Africa. The regrettable thing about it is, that he cannot get away sooner. There is a constitutional provision against it, but he has shown such disregard for the constitution that he might have ignored that clause with the rest of the articles.

There is much silly talk about the royal prerogatives of some European rulers as compared with the "simple" duties of the president of the United States; but we may state here that King Edward of England does not exercise one thousandth part of the power exercised in autocratic style by the president of the United States in legislative, executive and political matters. He has even undertaken to criticize the courts for their legal decisions in various important cases. When Haywood, Moyer and Pettibone were on trial on the charge of murder, the president undertook to prejudge their case and intimidated before the trial that they were guilty, when he said they were "undesirable citizens." The people of this country are tired of the intermeddling propensities of the president, and they are tired of the panic precipitated for the purpose of coercing the people into electing Taft who has been specially selected to carry out the pet policies of the president.

What, oh! what, will this country do if Taft should fail of election, and if Roosevelt should carry out his engagement with certain publishers to go to the wilds of Africa? He will make trouble there as well as here, for the habits of the dark continent as well as those of the United States appreciate the privilege of being let alone.

Dick Croker was right when he hinted that we need a president who would keep his mouth shut a part of the time. If in addition to complying with this requirement our next president will attend strictly to his own business, then the country will soon gravitate back to its normal condition.

THE POLICE CHANGES.

That Senior Lieutenant Brosnan was not made captain instead of Lieutenant Downey may be explained by the fact that once upon a time he was a candidate for head of the department, and, therefore, an opponent of the present superintendent. It happened, however, that the superintendent became his own successor with complete control of the department.

The commission decided that it would serve the interest of the department best by appointing to the captaincy the man selected by the superintendent. As Commissioner Bouger stated, however, Lieutenant Brosnan was in line for promotion to the vacancy, and he had filled the place from time to time when Captain Kew was on his vacation, sometimes for as much as six weeks. What we have to say here, however, is no reflection upon the new captain who is considered in every way competent for the position.

THE GREAT AUTO RACE.

The prospect at the present time is that the auto race on Labor day will be one of the greatest ever held in this country. It will undoubtedly be a great boom for Lowell, and will popularize the auto not only in Lowell but in this part of the state.

The managers deserve well the support of the public, and it is to be hoped that the patronage of the grand stands will be liberal enough to defray the heavy expenses of the undertaking.

We believe, however, that any attempt to rope off the land along the river bank would start a boom for private grand stands and points of vantage along Yarmouth avenue from which the automobile club would receive no benefit.

The Sun wishes the management every success in its efforts to carry out this race in a creditable manner in the face of many obstacles and at great expense in time, labor and money.

THE MILK INSPECTOR PROBLEM.

The board of aldermen, before conferring the appointment of Leroy Turner as milk inspector, should find out for certain whether he is a practical chemist.

It has been remarked that the late Major Allen was not much of a chemist when he was appointed, but it may be recalled also that the office did not have a small salary when he took charge. The city needs a practical chemist in that place, and the salary now paid is sufficient to secure the services of such an incumbent.

SEEN AND HEARD

During the recent financial flurry, a German farmer went to the bank for some money. He was told that the bank was not paying out money, but was banking cashiers' checks. He could not understand this, and insisted on money. The officers took him in hand, one at a time, with little effect. Finally the president tried his hand, and after a long and laborious explanation some intelligence of the situation seemed to be dawning on the farmer's mind. Finally the president said: "You understand now fully how it is, Hans, don't you?" "Yes," said Hans. "I think I do. It's like this, and is? Ven by baby takes up at night and wants some milk, I give him a milk ticket."

The London Tribune says that a West England paper recently published the following report of the career of a mad dog: "The infuriated animal was soon tearing up High street at full speed, and we regret to state that it severely bit the mayor's son and several other dogs which happened to be in the vicinity."

THE NEAR-ORPHANS.

I'm almost, but not wholly, homeless; You can't understand how it feels—I wish that my father would roam less And mother were here for meals. Please find me a parent restorer. My thanks you will find very warm; My father's a polar explorer, And mother goes in for reform.

I saw him when I was just seven, I see him now for a moment each day; I'm now pretty well past eleven, So you'll feel for me when I say. That I shall be more than delighted When all of us get the glad news That father the north pole has sighted And mother has put through her views.

My mother is telling the nation The rights and wrongs of its laws, My father with great tribulation Upon his last booted now gnaws; Poor father don't like the cold weather, But still he is seeking the pole; Poor mother pulls herself together, And strives to press on to the goal.

I wish I had some vocation To occupy most of my time; Like mother, I might urge the nation To turn to uplifting and climb. But she might be supplely jealous—So that's just the way that it goes; With father so eagerly zealous To follow his frost-bitten nose.

Some day we may be reunited—My father, my mother, and I, And then I'll be truly delighted, But now I am not. This is why: I yearn for a parent restorer, My thanks you will find very warm, For father's a polar explorer, And mother goes in for reform.

EDITORIAL COMMENT

RESULT IN VERMONT SATISFACTORY.

New Bedford Times: The wonderful state of Vermont has voted, and both old parties claim to be satisfied.

Before the election it was claimed that the republicans would have at least 23-00 majority, without which it would look dark for Taft. The returns indicate a majority of about 26,000 and a plurality of 2,000.

The independence league cast about 100 votes, which indicates that the masses of voters are still standing on old party lines.

The democrats have made big gains in the Vermont legislature, over which they are very happy.

Looking upon Vermont as a presidential year "barometer," the result of Tuesday's election indicates that the country is not yet greatly disturbed. The result is on the whole rather in favor of Bryan than Taft, and it must be remembered that the democrats did not put up much of a contest, while the republicans flooded the state with good speakers.

The great fight is to be made in the west, and the outlook in that section is more than satisfactory to the Bryan managers.

"This is a democratic year."

MOB COSTS IN ILLINOIS.

Worcester Post: A number of suits have already been brought, and more are in prospect in Springfield under the Illinois law allowing the owner of property destroyed by a mob to recover three-fourths of its value from the county, and dependent heirs of any one killed by a mob to recover $500 from the same source. The aggregate of verdicts in such cases can well reach up into six figures. The indictments being found for participation in the rioting—supposing the grand jury to be acting honestly—show that the negroes were worse offenders than the whites. But even if so this makes no difference with the county's liability. The duty of government was to protect all men alike and for its failure to do so it is justly liable to any sufferer.

Such a law generally applied would be the most effective cure for the mob spirit, because self-interest would do away with the disposition to shield participants which makes it so difficult now practically to get proof against them.

PEOPLE OF NOTE

Because he cheered too much for Roosevelt at Chicago, Charles E. Payne, a Washington colored politician, has been committed to the insane asylum. While the attempt was being made to stampede the convention for Roosevelt, Payne stood with thousands of others on chairs frantically cheering. At the climax, while enthusiastically waving his hat, his throat strained and his eyes bulging, something struck him in the brain. Payne went to Chicago a mentally sound man. When he came back he would strike a pose, one hand under the first button or his coat, the other outstretched in approved oratorical gesture, and rave of Roosevelt, Taft and the republican party. His one great absorbing sorrow was that Roosevelt had not been renominated, and when he pondered on this he grew melancholy and morose. The jury called to consider the case required only a few minutes to decide that Payne's political enthusiasm had reached a stage where it would be dangerous to permit him to wander unrestrained.

Andrew Carnegie has donated $5000 for the relief of the families of the 70 miners who lost their lives as a result of an explosion which occurred in the Mayfield mine in England on August 18.

It is a notable fact that Edith Wynne Matheson, who is Mrs. Charles Rann Kennedy, the wife of the author of "The Servant in the House," and leading woman in the east, acted in the very first play Mr. Kennedy ever wrote. "Rather bad," the author describes it, "and I forget it besides. An old soap-bubble, though, turns out to be a godlike symbol somehow." This debut performance was thoroughly amateur, the plucky little company making all their own scenery and costumes; and in a sense it was a family affair, too, since the author's collaborator and assistant manager was the brother of the leading lady. These two, Mr. Kennedy and Miss Matheson, were not acquaintances of the stage, but children together in Warwickshire. On a recent trip in the Maine woods while Holman Day was gathering material for his novel, "King Spruce," he encountered a "timber cruiser" who was in some respects the prototype of a character in the novel. When this "cruiser" was starting on a three days' expedition in the wilderness his preparations consisted of donning a high pair of laced boots and filling his pockets with raisins. For three days he tramped through swamps and underbrush and over mountains, covering some 20 miles a day. His only food was the raisins; he carried no blankets and wore no coat. In the course of such a trip the explorer would lose 15 pounds in weight. His companion, a veteran cruiser over 65, was also lightly equipped, carrying a bottle of gin, a little tea, and a few crackers.

GREAT AUTO RACE

built a new car and it does not take the machinists accompanying the car long to remedy the difficulty.

During the race the machinists will be placed at "controls" along the course and if a car is crippled it will be taken to the nearest control and repaired.

Lescault's Tryout

Lescault, one of the most daring drivers to compete in the race, suffered greatly from the cold and after making several rounds of the course stopped his machine near the entrance to the new boulevard in order to get "thawed out." Shortly before six o'clock, after tucking several copies of The Sun under his big sweater, in order to break the wind, he started around the course, and made some fast time.

Lescault in conversation with a representative of The Sun said that the heavy roads are much better for him than for the other contestants inasmuch as his machine is much heavier than the others and is less liable to meet with an accident owing to bad roads.

Dangerous Point

While practically every bad spot in the course has been picked out and commented upon, there is a very bad turn from the Trotting park road into Varnum avenue which is very difficult to make. The machines come down the steep hill by the old Forrest house and then make a rather abrupt turn into Varnum avenue. The majority of the drivers slacken when they reach this point, but Lescault goes around it almost every time at top speed, but he has got to skid his machine in such a manner that the ordinary spectator it looks as though the machine would turn turtle. This morning when he made the last round he came down the hill at break-neck speed and though he made a very close turn his machine skidded about 20 feet.

Robertson made four trips around the course and after getting back to the garage stated that his machine was in the pink of condition. Yesterday morning two of the cylinders on his machine cracked and it was necessary to insert two new ones. In fact, with the new cylinders in, the Fiat acted much better today than it did yesterday and Robertson is in hopes that he will have all of his difficulty prior to the race.

Charles Basle and Bourque, the drivers of the Knox machines, made some fast rounds. Basle, who is known as the "Flying Dutchman," is a very nervous driver and it is expected that he will perform some clever stunts on the day of the race. He has no fear of danger and is happiest when the machine is going at top speed.

Extra Morning Cars

The public has taken such an interest in the try-outs that the Boston & Northern has decided to run special cars along the Varnum avenue route tomorrow and Sunday mornings. Cars will leave Merrimack square at 4 o'clock, 4:30, 5 and 5:30 o'clock. Therefore it is a good safe bet that there will be a big attendance tomorrow and Sunday mornings.

An effort is being made to enter a six-cylinder Berlet car. The specifications stated in the call for entries limited the length of stroke of pistons for the various cars. The Berlet exceeded the stated specifications by something under an inch. Grant, the driver of the Berlet, is scheduled to arrive in Lowell today and it is understood that the contestants in the race are willing that an exception be made and allow the Berlet to be entered.

Yesterday's Sales

Yesterday it was reported that the tickets in the grand stands were going very fast and it now looks like a sell out before the race starts. Private stands are making bid for sales and will undoubtedly do a rushing business.

James T. Sullivan, the automobile writer, was in town yesterday and went over the course. He pronounced it "superior to anything in the road racing line he had ever seen."

The two local garages have taken on a very busy appearance in the last few days, due to the influx of the auto racing men. Hundreds view the cars daily and many machines have got as near the machines as possible. All are carefully watched, however, and there is no handling of them allowed. The average automobile racer

GRANDEST TREES

Calaveras Group Attacked by Forest Fire

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 4.—News that forest fires were invading the Calaveras group of big trees in California sent a pang to the hearts of thousands of tourists who have seen these famous world wonders. All the forest ranger and residents of the place went forth to protect the monarchs. The great fallen trunk known as "The Mother of the Forest," 227 feet long and seventy-eight feet in circumference, was in the path of the fire. The destruction of the big grove would be little short of a calamity. The only living specimens of the Sequoias gigantea, or big trees, and those found in California, and there are only groups of these, containing many notable trees. The Calaveras grove is probably the most remarkable of all.

PAQUETTE—Joseph Paquette, aged 72, died yesterday morning at his home, 15 Austin street, after a lingering illness. He leaves a wife, eight daughters, Mrs. Thomas Noyes, Mrs. Michael Marguerite, Mrs. L. J. Campbell, Mrs. Edward Burrill, Mrs. J. O. Champagne, Mrs. Wilfred Sawyer, Mrs. Alfred Albary, all of Lowell, and Mrs. Benjamin Marchand of Melville; three sons, Alphonse Paquette of Portland, N. H., and Joseph and Irene Paquette of Lowell; also three brothers, Felix Paquette of Haverhill and Louis and Pierre Paquette of Canada, and one sister, Mrs. Alex Marchand of Canada.

REGAN—The body of Dennis A. Regan was brought to this city yesterday from Gardner, where he died, September 2, and was removed to the rooms of C. H. Molloy & Sons. There was a fracture at the base of the man's skull. Regan, it is thought, lived in Lawrence, and has relatives in this city.

FINNER—James, infant son of John and Mary Finner, died last night at the home of his parents, 33 Floyd street. The funeral was held this morning at 11. Interment was in the Catholic cemetery in charge of Undertaker John A. Finnegan.

NEVER REFUSE

to advertise in a paper with a large circulation because you will not agree with its views on public questions. It is not to the paper that you appeal for trade, but to its readers. REV. JOS. JERGE

Well Known Jesuit Priest Died at St. John.

ST. JOHN, N. B., Sept. 4.—Rev. Joseph Jerge, of Boston, a well known priest of the order of the Society of Jesus, died last night in this city. Fr. Jerge had been ill of heart trouble for three weeks, and his condition became so serious that he was sent to St. Thomas's hospital, head of the Boston public of the Jesuit order, and president of Boston college, was sent for. Father Jerge was with him at death. The deceased priest came here July 15 to conduct a retreat but was stricken with heart failure before its termination.

For some time Father Jerge was connected with the Jesus House at Woodstock, Md., and was also superior at St. Joseph's church, Philadelphia. Later he was stationed in New York and Boston. At the latter city he was associate priest at the church of the Immaculate Conception. He was celebrated as a pupil orator.

7000 DELEGATES HORRIBLE CRIME

At the Epworth League Meeting

BOSTON, Sept. 4.—Seven thousand persons of the Methodist religion interested in the Epworth League movement attended the opening and forenoon sessions today of the biennial conference of the first general conference of the Epworth League, which has jurisdiction over all New England and northern New York. Following a business session of short duration the remainder of the forenoon today was occupied with a discussion of Epworth League methods, in which prominent leaders from several sections of the district participated. Among those who discussed the general subject in its various phases were Rev. R. G. Potter of Boston on "The Relation of the District Organization to the Conference and Local Work," Rev. A. D. Angel of Fort Ward, N. Y., on "The Relation of the League Prayer Meeting to the Other Services of the Church."

Cautions as to the practicability and manner as to conducting the work of the league were discussed following a paper by Miss Gertrude Mayo of Lynn on "Should Each Chapter Work All Departments?" and after A. W. Harris of Northampton had delivered an address which asked "Have Other Organizations More the Work of the League Unnecessary?" Department conferences occupied the afternoon program.

ADMIRAL SPERRY

Says Farewell to People of Australia

MELBOURNE, Sept. 4.—On the eve of the departure of the American battleship fleet from Melbourne, Admiral Sperry has sent this farewell to the people of Australia:

"The reception given the American fleet in Australia is pleasing not only to myself and the officers and men of the fleet but as representing the feeling of the United States towards the people of the United States. The welcome which has come from the commonwealth, the states, the municipalities and the crowds in the streets has been generous and kindly beyond belief. This heartiness between the people of the two great English-speaking nations must tend to the preservation of the peace of the world."

The young man had been educated in the Somerville schools. He was looked upon as strong of body and strong of mind. He did not drink.

The Jordans, husband and wife, for they had no children, lived in the upper apartment at 505 Middle-ford street, close up to Magoun square. In the bottom flat lived Edward Kasper, a bartender employed at the Hotel Lowell on Cutaway street, Boston, whose family have been away some weeks on a vacation. With the Jordans lived two lodgers, one of whom departed last Sunday from the house.

The other lodger is Benjamin DeCosta, who is employed at Gillette's carriage factory on a cathedraled avenue, Charlestown. The lodger went to his room every morning at 6 o'clock. He never returned to the house until late at night, generally 10 o'clock.

Always Seemed Affectionate

As far as the neighbors are concerned, they assert that Jordan and his wife seemed to think a good deal of each other. They were often seen arm in arm. Frequently the woman used to call during the evening hours at the pool room kept by the Poola club at Magoun square, and there upbraided him publicly for not coming home, or leaving her in the house without his company.

On these occasions, and they have been the only ones noted where the couple disagreed, he always accompanied her back to the house. But while Jordan had the reputation of being affectionate, though it was known that he enjoyed a game of pool, and made money by it in some of the resorts about Boston, his wife had a different reputation. Recently Jordan asserted that he was to open a stationery store in the Berkeley building on Boylston street in Boston. He passed his cards about, but the store, it is claimed, had not materialized.

Many Trips to Boston

While he was giving this out to his friends, and making his evenings playing pool, of late his wife had taken many trips to Boston. The clerks at Bowman's drug store at Magoun square assert that they frequently had calls over the telephone from Boston, asking that Jordan be notified that his wife was in an intoxicated condition, and that he must go to Boston and bring her home. This happened very frequently of late, and on these occasions Jordan always went on the street, and without complaint. Two months ago the woman swallowed a quantity of kerosene, but her life was saved by the prompt action of Dr. William LaFrance, who lives in the adjoining house.

Last Seen Alive on Tuesday

Mrs. Jordan was seen for the last time on Tuesday. At 7 o'clock at night John H. Hamilton met with her directly in front of his home, at 511 Medford street, Somerville. She carried a pet dog in her arms and was going into the house where she lived. Mrs. Sarah Hayden, a next door neighbor, also saw and spoke with her Tuesday afternoon. At that time Mrs. Hayden asked her if it was true that she was about to leave for Europe, and she received the reply: "Why yes, I will sail one week from today to visit my folks in England."

To all appearances, there was not the least semblance of a drink (tragedy having occurred in that Medford street home during Tuesday or Wednesday. The curtains were lifted, as were their wont to be.

The white draperies seemed to show the touch of a woman's hand, as they curled gracefully back from the open window on the front and side.

Housewives went about their duties all around and about in that residential neighborhood, never dreaming that a dreadful crime had been committed. Even Benjamin DeCosta, the lodger, had appeared at his regular hour—10 o'clock on Tuesday night—had passed to his room directly off the dining room, and had not for a moment seen a single thing to call to his mind that a deed of blood had been consummated.

Body Cut Up Wednesday

Jordan had slept in the house, occupying one of the top rooms. He waited until Wednesday morning to cut up the body. The lodger had then gone and the work went on and on throughout the long hours. Even the skilled physicians who had participated in the dismemberment of the body of Susan Gray could not have done a better job.

Jordan used a knife of the regular butcher shop style. A heavy blade cut the bones and a razor did the fine work. He even stripped the flesh from the bones. It was a horrible thing—stripping away of the flesh—but the fear of the law spurred him on, and as the sun went down in the evening, his kitchen resembled a charnel house of the dead.

Hid the Severed Portions

The lodger would be coming home. The trust not be caught, and so the terrified man began to clean up the surroundings. Parts of the body and the scrapings of the bones he left in the two set tubs and covered them over. The skull was borne to the tub in the cellar and thrust into the fire pot and the door closed. Then he went back and securing the tubs, carried them also to the furnace.

He covered over the tubs and waited in his own room until DeCosta, the lodger, had passed up the stairs, and entered his own room off the hall. Then after that, when he decided that the border slept, Jordan took up his terrible task once more. Part of the scrapings of blood he dumped into the bath tub, and many of the smaller pieces of flesh and bone he burned. In his work of operating Jordan had cut out both thigh bones by slitting the flesh from the hips to the knees, yet leaving the lower limbs and feet attached to the trunk by the remaining flesh.

He had scalped the skull as an Indian in the old wars would have scalped a white settler, taking off the mass of rich brown hair with the skin itself, and this he placed in the kitchen stove.

When the work had been completed the man went to the task of washing out the clothing that had encompassed the body.

This was only partly done, and after he had thought that the stains had been removed he bore the entire mass to the cellar and placed them about at various points to dry.

Yesterday morning Charles Limburg, a driver for Perkins' Winter Hill express, called at Bowman's drug store by Magoun square to get the contents of his order box. When he opened the box he found a note and 35 cents telling him to go to the house at 505 Medford street, Somerville, and take a trunk from there to the South station.

Limburg arrived at the place designated and was surprised to find that no one appeared to be at home, though the door was open. He went up the stairs and saw the trunk—then dragging it to the top of the stairs lest no time in getting down with it and placing it upon his wagon.

Trunk Was Very Heavy

The driver had noticed that it seemed heavy, and when he delivered it in Boston he remarked to one of the station men that it was as heavy as lead.

No one appeared to take any particular notice of Jordan when he left the house in the morning, long after the lodger had departed. He went in to Boston, and between the hours of 8 and 9 o'clock called at the house No. 2 Hancock street, asking there if he could be given a room on the first floor or in the basement.

He was directed to the house at No. 7, which is kept by Mrs. Richard Hatley. The latter was out at the time, but her brother was at work scrubbing the steps, and while both men were in conversation Mrs. Hatley herself appeared. Jordan was told that he could not have any room on the first floor, as they were all taken, but that he could have one at the back of the house on the second floor. He said that he would look at it and went upstairs with the woman.

Engaged Room for Two Weeks

It appeared to satisfy him and he engaged it for two weeks, paying for it in advance.

Then Jordan went away, after stating that his trunk would be on hand during the afternoon hours. At 2 p. m. a cab drove up to the door, driven by George Collins, who has a stand at the Hotel Essex.

From the interior Jordan appeared and assisted Collins in carrying a trunk into the house, which they had taken from the rear of the vehicle.

The cabman noticed that Jordan was careful of the contents of the trunk. He also noted that it was heavy, and that his passenger was very nervous about something.

Just after the trunk was placed in the room, a colored woman employed in the house began cleaning the windows in the apartment. While she was at work, Jordan never left the trunk, but seated himself on the cover. Then after she had completed the work he locked the door and went out, going towards Cambridge street.

In the meantime, Collins, the back driver, had been doing a deal of thinking as he drove away. He was suspicious of the man's actions and the weight of the trunk. He had noticed that when he met Jordan the latter appeared to be undecided as to where he would go, or what he would do.

It seemed to Collins that he had some possession of a stolen treasure within his grip and he moved in the direction of Joy street station and went inside.

Sergeant Michael Crowley and Patrolman Michael Dago got into Collins' back and started back to the Hancock street house. On the way Collins saw Jordan on the street, but did not call the officers' attention to him.

Officers Confronted Jordan

The backman thought that if he did so it would place himself in a bad light with the man who had been his passenger, and who might have things that rightfully belonged to him in the trunk.

The three men went up to the second floor and concealed themselves in an adjacent room. It was not long before Jordan returned, and when he did he was confronted by Sergeant Crowley in the hallway. They commanded that the door of the room be opened and the trunk's contents be revealed.

Jordan hesitated. Then turned the key in the door. He passed to the further end of the apartment. He walked nervously back and forth. He clutched at his own wrists with his hands and dug his nails into the flesh.

More commands were forthcoming. The officers of the law were wasting precious time. They might be wanted elsewhere. They waited a sign of the interior of the trunk. The weighty box, and the next instant they had it. Jordan produced the key. He placed it in the lock, turned it and held back the lid.

Trunk's Contents Revealed

Old clothes appeared on the surface. One of the police officers slid in his hand and drew it back. His fingers showed a trace of blood.

The next moment the wrappings had been unrolled, and one of the most terrible murders ever committed in all the annals of crime was revealed.

They bore Jordan to station 2 and called in Captain Dugan of police headquarters, who covers all murder cases.

The story of the woman who had been dragged forth piece by piece, was stated in the outset where he lived, and gave his name. Then he told of the finds that the police would make at his home in Somerville. Captain Dugan, in company with Captain Perry and Lieutenant Kelley of the Somerville force, lost no time in seeking the house in the Magoun square district.

They went up-stairs in the house and looked it over. There was a parlor, a front chamber in which the bed had not been disturbed, a long hall with a bathroom on the left side, a dining room, kitchen and the chamber which the lodger had occupied. Up in the attic of the house they found two rooms, one of them containing a bed that had been turned topsyturvy.

Jordan had not slept in his own room Tuesday or Wednesday nights, even in the hours that he had not given to the dismembering of his wife's body.

The bath tub showed signs of blood. The kitchen sink held a bloody ooze. The officers came upon the blood-covered back saw, the knife and razor with which the deed of death had been accomplished.

Then they passed down the two flights of stairs and entered the cellar, looking out the furnace in which Jordan had placed the dead woman.

It did not take them long to come upon it. Thrusting his hand within the opening, Captain Dugan drew forth a package about the size of a coconut from which the husk had not been removed.

He was wrapped with white cloth and blood stains appeared upon it here and there.

Head Found in Furnace

There was no need of a word as to its identification. The officers knew that Captain Dugan held in his hand the head of the murdered Mrs. Chester S. Jordan.

Almost in pitying tenderness the stern visaged police official uncovered the wrappings, and they gave readily to the touch of his hand. When they had passed from their position the skull was then revealed, hideous in its aspect. The eyes were open, and from the stern bone that stood out white upon the top, one could see that the head had been virtually scalped by the wielder of the sharp implements at command.

Far back in the furnace fire pot two other bones, which came from the thighs—remains, the medical men call them—were found. Neither skull nor thigh bones had been touched by the but more horrifying, they had been scraped. Not a particle of flesh hung upon them, and some sharp instrument had gone over their surface until the bone itself had been partly taken away as well.

About the cellar were the other indications of the terrible crime, as though the ghost of the dead woman had arisen to point out the manner in which her death had been accomplished by showing the position of her feet, now ghastly with its encrusting of blood. On boxes and on barrels about the cellar hung the garments that she must have worn at the time that she was killed. They were still wet with her blood, intermingled with water that her husband had used in his efforts to efface all stains. The work had been but poorly done. All over the white undervest, white stockings and gingham house dress of a polka dot variety and the badly torn white shirtwaist were the evidences of the grisly crime.

RIFLE EXPERTS

Taking Part in the Big Contest

SEACREST, N. J., Sept. 4.—Rifle and revolver experts from all parts of the country are here taking part in the eighteenth annual shooting tournament of the New Jersey State Rifle association, which began this morning and will be in progress until Saturday evening, Sept. 12. This year the New York State Rifle association has transferred its annual shoot from the Creedmore range to this meeting of the shooting experts and the United States Revolver association is here also. The tournament is under the direction of Gen. Bird W. Spencer, the state's inspector general of title practice, and a large number of trophies and cash prizes will be awarded. Today's program included the Columbia trophy match, company team match, Tyro company team match and the cavalry team match open to teams of six, five, three and five men, respectively. The most important match of the tournament will be for the Dryden trophy, a piece of bronze valued at $100, presented

CAR WAS SEIZED

Trip of the Greene Family Interrupted

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 4.—The private car belonging to Col. W. C. Greene, the copper magnate, who arrived with his family from the Orient yesterday, has been seized by the sheriff here and the trip of the Greene family to the South is delayed. The seizure was made on an attachment arising out of the suit filed against Col. Greene a few days ago by Dr. E. B. Perrine for the recovery of $112,000 alleged to be due the plaintiff, the purchase price of certain Arizona lands sold to Col. Greene. Dr. Galbraith, Col. Greene's secretary, says that the seizure of the car is merely a result of a misunderstanding.

The MERRIMACK Women's Store

Announces a Special Advance Fall Offering

New Tailored Suits At $25

We've made a ten strike—secured a goodly lot of high grade, strictly tailored suits, to open the season at $25.00.

Makers are willing to make concessions to get early orders—these were made from models that later would cost much more—and made better, too, than when the rush season is on.

The new models show many distinctive style features—collars, girdles, sleeves, and skirts reflect the Directoire period.

Coats are long and semi-fitting, with smaller full length sleeves; new collar with broad revers, finished with mohair or satin binding; heavy button trimmings, and new style pockets.

Skirts with the dressier suits have demi-trains, while for the strictly tailored suits, they are of walking length. They have high girdle effects, and are snug fitting over the hips.

The cloths are beautiful this season, and this $25.00 line is representative; including men's wear fancy worsteds in hard and soft finish, broadcloths, plain and fancy weave serges, and fancy chevrons.

Colors are navy, black, smoke gray, green and peacock blue.

Fall Suit Styles are settled. The woman who buys early has all the advantage—in selection of styles, in better workmanship, better store service, and the satisfaction of wearing the new styles first.

Tailored Suits in exclusive models are shown here at $15 and up to $65.

Our usual high class alteration service assures practically custom tailor results. This service is free at the Merrimack—the only store in this section where such high class service isn't charged for.

TRUE RUSSIANS JORDAN IN COURT

Are Preparing to Resume Anti-Jewish Raids

Arraigned for Murder of His Wife

He Pleaded Not Guilty

ODESSA, Sept. 4.—The Union of True Russians, the reactionary organization of Odessa, after six months of inactivity, is preparing to resume its anti-Jewish raids but the present governor general of this city, Gen. Tolnatcheff, is determined that they shall not, and there are evidences that he will proceed in this direction with more energy than any of his predecessors. The general has just issued an order in which he informs the union that he will under no circumstances tolerate the existence of their "hating faction," and that he will take strict measures toward its suppression. Imprisonment for three months, to be followed by expulsion from the country will be the punishment for violation of this order. The first stand of the governor general is due to renewed attacks by members of the union on a recent Hebrew.

PRESIDENT ENTERTAINS VISITORS

OYSTER BAY, N. Y., Sept. 4.—After a day's rest yesterday the president today entertained a number of official visitors. On the morning train, John A. Schleicher, editor of Leslie's Weekly, arrived. Other visitors during the day were Henry A. Wise, United States assistant district attorney from New York; Bishop C. H. Brent, Protestant Episcopal bishop of the Philippines; James F. Williams and Richard V. Culahan, both of the Taft campaign bureau; Hamilton Fish of New York, assistant treasurer of the United States; Howard Richards of New York, and Major E. A. Wadsworth of Avon, N. Y., both personal friends of the president.

REP. D. J. FOSTER

SAYS VERMONT MAJORITY COULD HAVE BEEN LARGER.

NEW YORK, Sept. 4.—The first republican leader in Vermont to arrive at the headquarters of the republican national committee since the election in that state last Tuesday was Representative D. J. Foster of the first district.

Mr. Foster who was re-elected to congress, reached the national headquarters today. "We could have made the state majority larger," said he, in speaking of the election, "but nearly everybody in the state believes that Bryanism is stone dead throughout the country and therefore that Vermont was not called upon to roll up an unprecedented majority. As it is the majority is one to be proud of."

Further Details of the Crime Brought Out by Police Inquiry

—His Sanity is Questioned

BOSTON, Sept. 4.—But few points in connection with the most horrible and gruesome murder recorded in the annals of crime in Greater Boston, that of Mrs. Honora Jordan, an actress, about 35 years of age, who was known on the stage as Irene Shannon, by her husband, Chester S. Jordan, aged 29 years, remained to be cleared up by the police today, although the several portions of the woman's body were discovered only last night. The confession of the husband to the police following the arrest after the accidental discovery of the mutilated torso of his wife in a trunk, which he caused to be placed in a room at number 7 Hancock street, this city, was believed to be a substantial recital of the incidents of the brutal crime, but several minor details of his confession conflicted with each other and his story was unconnected in parts.

He Told Everything

As a result of his examination by the police officials at headquarters in this city last night he disclosed all the apparently important facts in connection with the murder and gave the information which led to the discovery of the scalped head of the murdered woman and the portions of the two larger bones of her legs, the only parts not contained in the trunk, at his home at 505 Bedford street, Somerville. He also gave a plausible reason in a remark by his wife, which, according to his story, by her belief that he had relations with another woman, and stated that following her epithet he struck her, knocking her down a flight of stairs. He claims that this blow is the only cause by which he is responsible so far as he knows for her death, as following his striking her he remembers nothing until the next morning when, on awakening, he found her nude body at the foot of the stairs. At this later time, however, his wife's neck was slashed from ear to ear.

Motive for Crime

On this portion of his confession the police place the least credence and their efforts in today's investigations centered in a search for another stronger motive, while the medical examiner carefully examined the body for marks of the blow which caused her death. The evidence of the gashing of the neck was plain and it was believed that this caused the woman's death but Jordan's denial of any knowledge of this act made the matter one for close attention. His story of apoplexy following the blow which knocked Mrs. Jordan down the stairs is also a point upon which the police have laid particular stress in their instructions to the forensic examiners during the latter's examination of Jordan himself as it was supposed that he might be a victim of drugs. This latter idea he denies. Attorney William S. Scharlow, who has been procured for the defense of Jordan by Jesse Livermore, the millionaire cotton speculator of New York, states that he already has evidence of Jordan's mental derangement several weeks before the murder and in this case the murderer's insanity may account for some of the lapses in his confession although as a whole it is remarkably clear.

Cut Body in Halves

Following the finding of his wife's body Wednesday morning, Jordan says he first severed the body in halves, using a butcher knife to cut it through the abdomen and then proceeded to unjoin the various limbs and head with the idea of fitting them into a steamer trunk. In order to do this it was necessary to strip the flesh from the body and he disposed of the flesh in the packing by placing it in crevices between the bones. The head and thighs he put in the furnace after scalping the head and placing the hair in the kitchen range. In this range he cooked a meal which he ate on the boards of a pair of set tubs which he had used as an operating table in cutting the body and the tubs of which at the time contained the gruesome parts of the body.

Sending the trunk to the South station in Boston by express he went about his work as usual Wednesday and Thursday he hired a cabman to call for the trunk and convey it to the steamer Yale which he intended to board for New York. It was the cabman, George W. Collins, who later informed the police. Finding that the Yale was in New York and not due to sail he rode to Hancock street where he hired a room in which place the trunk was opened by policemen.

Mrs. Jordan was married to her present husband in 1904 after securing a divorce from Charles Eddy. Her maiden name was Honora O'Reilly and on the stage she was known as Irene Shannon. It is understood that she expected to leave for her birthplace in England within a week.

Before the Court

When brought before Justice J. H. Butler in the Somerville police court this forenoon, Jordan pleaded "not guilty" to the charge of having murdered his wife. The case was continued until Friday, Sept. 11 and Jordan was remanded to the Somerville jail.

The courtroom, which is located on the floor above the jail in the police station building in Union square, was crowded when Officer Ray and Inspector Damery brought the prisoner into court. Jordan showed no signs of nervousness and looked quietly about the room.

"You are charged with the murder of your wife, Honora Jordan," said Judge Butler. "Are you guilty or not guilty?"

"I am not guilty, your honor," replied Jordan calmly.

Jeremiah S. Sullivan, counsel for Jordan, then asked that the case be continued for one week. Judge Butler granted the motion and announced that the case would come up for a hearing next Friday.

Wanted on Charge of Dynamiting Safe

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 4.—Notification has been received by the police department here that Isador Golden, now awaiting trial on a burglary charge, is wanted in Boston on a charge of dynamiting a safe and getting away with $1000. Golden is known as "Saucy Nose" in Boston, and other charges besides the dynamiting against him are on file there.

SOCIAL AND FRATERNAL

Highland-Veritas lodge, I. O. O. F., met last night. The attendance was large and considerable business of importance was transacted. There was a degree rehearsal by the staff.

There are already a number of applications on hand and the work will start in earnest for the 25th anniversary in November, the past presidents acting as the general committee. The corps will hold an outing at Mrs. Hattie Proctor's Sept. 24. The secretary, Mrs. Hattie Whitney, leaves for Albany Saturday, to visit her sister, Mrs. Elizabeth R. Barry, who is ill.

Lowell Arrive of Eagles met last night. President William F. Higgins in the chair, and final preparations were made for the annual field day to be held at Mountain Rock.

Visiting birds will be present from all over the state and the local aerie expects to have the presence of the state officials and the majority of the delegates from Massachusetts who attended the convention at Seattle.

Five propositions were received at the meeting. Arrangements were also made to have a grand class initiation and social at Elks hall, Nov. 13.

JOYCE BOYS FOUND

Mystery of Their Disappearance Satisfactorily Explained

Boys Returned to Tewksbury Upon Learning That Their Home Was Vacant—Restored to Their Parents Today

The mystery of the disappearance of the two Joyce boys, whose parents moved from Ludlam street in Centralville to Manufacturers' street in Ayer City, has been satisfactorily cleared up, and the boys are alive and well and in good hands.

It seems that the boys were sent to the home of R. P. Jameson in Tewksbury for a two weeks' vacation on the country week fund. At the conclusion of the two weeks they were put aboard a car and sent to Lowell. Their father went down to get them on the very day that they were sent back, and they must have passed each other on the way without knowing it for when the father arrived at Tewksbury he learned that the children had left on an earlier car. When the children left home the family was residing in Ludlam street, but in their absence they moved to Manufacturers' street, and for that reason the father went to Tewksbury to get them. The latter upon learning that the boys had returned to Lowell hastened back to Lowell to learn that they had appeared at the old home in Ludlam street but had gone away upon learning that the house was vacant. That was last Tuesday, and from that day on the distressed parents have searched the city high and low, but never for a moment thought of inquiring at the place in Tewksbury where the boys had been rusticated.

It seems that the boys upon finding their old home vacant immediately returned to the farm in Tewksbury where they had been stopping, and there they have been staying ever since, well cared for and happy. It was only today that Mr. Jameson learned that the boys were missing, and he came to Lowell immediately and explained the situation to the grief-stricken family.

SHE PLAYED IN LOWELL

Irene Shannon, whose butchered body was found yesterday by the police of Boston, and for which her husband is now under arrest charged with murder, to which he has confessed, was frequently on the bill at the old Boston Theatre in Merrimack street, when vaudeville held the boards there. She is remembered as an unusually clever performer, one who made many friends wherever she went. So far as a Sun reporter was able to learn, her husband has never played in Lowell, although it is probable that he may have been here while his wife was playing in this city.

ANNUAL OUTING ILLEGAL KEEPING

Of St. Anthony's Parish on Monday Charged Against St. Charles' Hotel

The annual outing of the parishioners of St. Anthony's church will be held on Monday, Labor day, and a large number is expected to attend. The party will meet at Davis square, and a military parade will be held. St. Anthony's Military company and St. Anthony's band will participate in the parade. It will start from Davis square at 8:30 o'clock and march down Gosham to Central to Merrimack to John and to Paige street, where special cars will be awaiting its arrival.

The cars will leave the square at 9 o'clock and proceed to Mountain Rock. At 10 o'clock the Sunday school children will take part in dances, the Portuguese band playing.

A ball game will be played at 11:30 by two Portuguese teams, after which games and races will be pulled off. Suitable prizes will be awarded to the winners. At 1 o'clock dinner will be served to the Sunday school children.

The St. Anthony's Military company will give an exhibition drill at 2 o'clock and at 3 o'clock the Portuguese band will give a concert. A promenade over the parade will take place from 4 until 5 o'clock, when the cars will be ready for the party to return to the city.

As this is an annual affair, it is looked forward to by the people of the parish and their friends with pleasant anticipation and, weather permitting, it will undoubtedly be a grand success.

RETURN HOME

MESSRS McCARTY AND ROHAN HAD DELIGHTFUL TRIP.

Mr. Charles E. McCarty, the well-known proprietor of the New England Steam laundry, and Mr. Timothy P. Rohan, well-known in amateur dramatic circles, returned home this morning after a delightful two months' tour of Europe. Both gentlemen waxed eloquent over the sights, many, and beautiful, to be admired by tourists, across the water. They visited all the principal points of interest in Europe, and doubtless will regale their friends for months to come with the scenes and incidents of their travels.

Winner of Briarcliffe and Savannah Races Reaches Lowell

THE DARING LESCAULT IN THE SIMPLEX.

The Lightning Speeders Practicing on Course Every Morning From 4.30 to 6 O'Clock—Notes, Roads, the Arrangements and the Famous Drivers—Great Demand for Tickets Out of Town

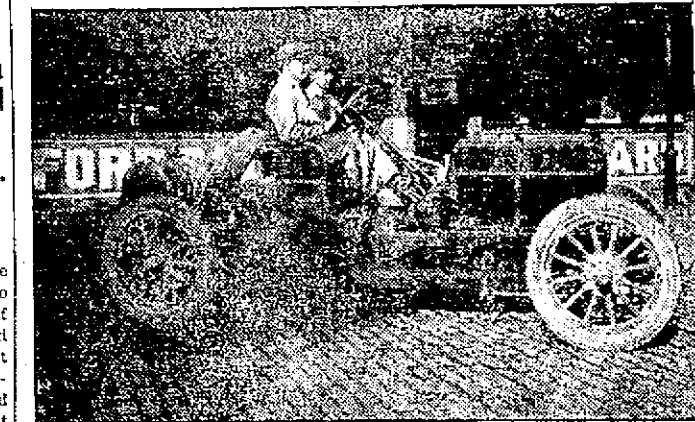

Louis Strang, the winner of the Briarcliffe and Savannah races, arrived in Lowell this forenoon, accompanied by his mechanic, Leo Anderson, and Fred Corlew of the Lowell Automobile club.

The trio made the trip in the car that won the Briarcliffe and Savannah races, and Strang, his mechanic and the car were photographed for The Sun. Strang did not make a stop in Lowell until he arrived at the Richardson hotel, where he was met by representatives of The Sun, to whom he had telephoned from Boston. Strang is called a "dare devil," and he doesn't like the term. He says a man is not a "dare devil" when he is "on to his job." He is a young, clean, clever looking fellow, and as accommodating as all that the word implies. When approached on the subject of being photographed, he said that he had picnessed a race. It was rather tame to the red hot enthusiast who desires to see the operators battling with Father Time.

The interest in the big contest is increasing daily and there must have been two thousand people distributed over the course this morning to witness the tryouts. When persons employed in the mills who have to report at work at 6:30 a. m. will arise early enough in the morning to walk up to the boulevard, spend a half hour or so watching the machines go around, and then take a car back to the city in time to get to work, there is no doubt but that the interest in this event is on the increase.

Long before the break of day this morning people were assembling on the boulevard, and by 5:30 o'clock there was a solid mass of people near the junction of Dunbar avenue and the Speedway. All along the local portion of the boulevard people were lined up watching the benzine wagons as they buzzed along.

Those who have witnessed the machines running on the straightaway for several mornings are now beginning to pick out points along the course where there is a chance to see some clever driving, the straightaway course being too tame for them.

This morning there was quite an aggregation at the end of the old portion of the boulevard, where the machines shoot from the heavy travel side of the double track into the new portion of the boulevard. There was also quite a number lined up at the junction of the middle park road and Vernon avenue on the back stretch, though the extra attraction goes on to be at the end of Dunbar avenue and the boulevard. Naturally this location would be where the big crowd would be gathered, for it is the first point where the machines are forced to change their parts of the city.

Large Turnout of Autos

The owners of almost 100 cars started out in line numbers, and stationed their machines at points of vantage along the course. Though it is a very dangerous thing to try to put a machine over the course while the races are in progress, for it endangers the lives of the racers as well as the spectators of the cars.

Lescault, the driver of the Simplex machine, in discussing the matter of automobiles traversing the course while the races are in progress, said that in the event of meeting a private car the racer would do everything possible to avert an accident even at the risk of ditching his own machine, but he is not anxious about having to contend with any of these affairs.

Fog Over the Course

The prospects of covering the course this morning looked very vague at one time as the fog was very heavy and the cold was intense, especially when driving in a car at a fast rate of speed. While the majority of the drivers were waiting for the fog to rise and give them a chance to have a clear view of the course at Poole, the driver of the Fiat car, who arrived in the city yesterday afternoon, swung into the Speedway and opened the throttle wide sent the Italian car flying through the fog. The recklessness with which Poole was speeding his machine caused the spectators to marvel. A few minutes after he started the Fiat, the two Buick cars, the Buick and Simplex swung into line and went off at half minute intervals.

After leaving the boulevard proper the drivers had to skedaddle on their speed as in some places they could see only a few feet ahead of the machine and it was exceedingly dangerous to attempt to let out.

The drivers, after making one round of the course, began to feel the cold, and several of them held up after making a couple of turns of the course in order to get warm. While the fog on the main stretch was very heavy, it was much worse on the back stretch and when the fog started to rise the road was clear in some places, while in others it was almost impossible to see the sides of the thoroughfare.

The American Car.

The chances of the American car, Jack Andrews driving, entering the race are very slim at the present time. It was expected that the car would be sent over the course this morning for a tryout, but last night while it was being overhauled an accident happened which made it impossible to operate it. In speaking with a representative of The Sun, Andrews stated that he was in hopes of having the machine repaired in order to make a trip over the course tomorrow morning.

Chief Hosmer of the fire department called at the city hall this forenoon and met Mr. Heinze, president of the Lowell Automobile club, and among other things discussed the possibility of a fire during the race hour.

Chief Hosmer said that he would not consider the race if his department were called to a fire along the course, and Mr. Heinze said that in the event of a fire that would call for the use of the race course for the fire department the race would be pulled off for the time being.

Insured for $75,000

The race has been insured against accident in the sum of $75,000. T. C. Lee & Co., holds the insurance. The matter was discussed this forenoon in the mayor's office and there were present the mayor's secretary, Edwards Cheney, Mr. Heinze and Mr. Thomas Lee.

Will Wear Badges

It was stated today that the militia would turn out but would be in civilian dress and would be supplied with badges designating their office.

Seats for 6,200

The grandstand has been built to accommodate 6,200 people and it is estimated that about 2,500 tickets have been sold up to date.

Sharp Turn Into Boulevard

In making the sharp turn from the old into the new boulevard the fog was so thick that Birman in the Buick slide-raked a couple of posts erected for the purpose of warning off the course, but he did no damage to his machine. A little later, however, he met with difficulty, which made him give up his tryout and he was compelled to bring the machine back to the garage. He had covered the first lap and was traveling through the lower end of the boulevard when he blew out a spark plug.

All of the machines have met with more or less trouble, but this is expected, for while driving a machine at the high rate of speed it is very easy to put a car out of commission for the time being. No serious accident has happened as yet, however. All of the operators have parts enough to almost

Little "Joe" Dawson Met With a Serious Accident

Six-year-old Joseph Dawson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Dawson of 126 Bowers street, had a narrow escape from death last evening. Employees of the H. R. Barker Co. are installing a steam plant in the residence, and they left an unconnected radiator standing in one of the rooms. The little boy while playing around the room came in contact with the radiator, and the impact was so great that the radiator toppled over on top of the child, throwing him to the floor. The boy was pinned down to the floor when his mother went to his aid and raised the radiator. It was found that his right leg was fractured between the knee and the ankle. Drs. McAdams and O'Hearn were summoned and set the break. The doctors stated that the boy was fortunate in not being more seriously injured.

MET WITH SERIOUS INJURY

James Weleb, residing at the corner of Central and Hudson streets, met with a painful accident while at work at the Belvidere No. 2 mill, this afternoon. He is a machinist, and was engaged in hanging shafting when he slipped and fell, sustaining a laceration of the left ear and abrasions about the face. He was taken to St. John's hospital where he received treatment.

POLICE CHIEF SHOT

By Horse Thief Whom He Was About to Arrest

WARE, Sept. 4.—In attempting to arrest a man at the Hampshire house today as a horse thief, Chief of Police Maurice Fitzgerald of this town was shot four times by the man and probably fatally wounded. The man then ran up Bank street, and going behind a barn committed suicide by firing the fifth bullet from his revolver through his neck, death occurring within a few minutes.

The assailant's name was Robinson. When pursued by a crowd he ran about a hundred yards and then committed suicide by shooting himself in the neck.

Chief Fitzgerald received one shot through the abdomen, a second through the left shoulder, a third in the chest beneath the heart and the fourth bullet through the lungs. The shooting occurred shortly after noon, and at 1 p. m. the chief was still alive but not expected to survive the day.

The man arrived in town on Monday and registered at the Hampshire house as Robert Robinson of Taunton, but it was believed today that this name was fictitious.

During the past day or two he was seen frequently wandering about the town without any apparent business and his actions were reported to Chief Fitzgerald. This noon the chief met the man opposite the entrance of the Hampshire house and invited him into the hotel to answer a few questions. The office is on the second floor and the two men walked up there, the chief questioning Robinson on the way up. On reaching the office there was some more conversation and then the chief said:

"Let's see what you have in your pockets?"

The man reached into his back trousers pocket and pulling a revolver, fired four shots at the chief in rapid succession. The two men were standing about six feet apart, Robinson having stepped back as he drew his revolver. Every shot struck the chief and all four passed through his body lodging in the wall behind. The chief fell to the floor with a groan while James Schaefer, the clerk who was standing behind the desk shouted for help. Robinson turned quickly and dashed up stairs to his room and within a minute a dozen persons were following him. They found the door locked, but when it was burst open Robinson had gone through the window to the new garage by which means he reached the ground on the back side of the hotel. These people in the upper stories shouted to others on the street and the crowd dashed toward the hotel into the alleyway.

Robinson was running up the alleyway as the crowd appeared and when he found himself so closely pursued he turned himself over a fence into a yard and ran behind a barn. The next instant a shot was heard. The crowd fearing that the man was still alive and in a position to defend himself came up before police officers who cautiously entered the yard and went around behind the barn. There they saw the form of a man upon the ground and coming closer discovered that he was bleeding from a wound in the neck. As the officers stood over him, the man without making any remarks expired.

In the meantime the wounded chief had been carried to a room in the hotel and physicians summoned. The chief was in a semi-conscious condition, but could only say that he was attempting to arrest the man as a suspicious character when he was turned upon and shot.

Chief Fitzgerald has been an officer of the town for over ten years and head of the local force for eight years. He is married and has two children.

When the body of the dead man was searched a certificate of recommendation made out to "F. E. Hennen" and signed by Pickering, Metcalf & Co. of Leominster, Mass., was found in one of the pockets. The recommendation was that Hennen had worked for the company as a steersman for about a year and that he left the employ in good standing on June 5, 1908.

An inquiry of the firm at Leominster this afternoon corroborated the fact that such a man had been in the employ of the company which manufactures brushes and celluloid goods but very little was known of his family affairs or his former home.

When the man registered at the hotel he wrote his name as Robert Robinson of Taunton, but the clerk was of the opinion that he intended to write Robinson and addressed him as such.

At 2 p. m. today Chief Fitzgerald was still alive.

BELONGED IN LEOMINSTER

LEOMINSTER, Sept. 4.—Corroboration between the authorities of this town and of Ware this afternoon established the fact that the man who wounded Chief Fitzgerald and then killed himself was Frank Henson of Leominster. He was about 25 years of age and lived here only a few months, being employed in several different capacities as a laborer. A warrant had been issued a few days ago for his arrest on the charge of larceny of money and clothing from local stores. It is understood here that he left a note confessing that he had stolen goods valued at $200 from Leominster business concerns and the note which was written this forenoon indicated that he intended to commit suicide.

PARK COMMISSION ASKS FOR $2500.

Supt. Whittet Has a Word to Say—
Moths are Beyond Control of Towns
and Cities—Lowell's Trees Are Well Preserved.

The park commission at a meeting held last night voted to ask for an appropriation of $2500 with which to fight the gypsy and brown-tail moths. Supt. Whittet has stated that in order to fight the pests successfully the commission should be granted a generous appropriation early in the year in order that incessant war might be waged. To start at the moths and have to let up because of lack of money means that while waiting the moths get a fresh start.

Supt. Whittet said last night that the moth question was getting beyond the cities and towns and that state or federal action would soon be taken. Asked as to the success of Lowell's fight with the moths up to date, Mr. Whittet said: "If we hadn't done what we did last year the trees of Lowell would be stripped bare. We have saved the trees of the parks, school

Named in Wisconsin
and Nebraska

MILWAUKEE, Sept. 4.—One of the features of the primary election in Wisconsin, which caused wide-spread comment was the defeat by Representative John J. Jenkins of the Eleventh congressional district by Irvine L. Lenroot, formerly speaker of the state assembly and a strong LaFollette follower. United States Senator Stephenson carried in the primary over S. A. Cook of Neenah. A. C. Shallenberger claimed the democratic nomination for governor of Nebraska over James C. Dahlgren, mayor of Omaha.

yards and streets. With $10,000 we could clean every tree in the city. Last year we destroyed 1,021,401 nests, and if you multiply this figure by 250, you will find how many caterpillars were destroyed at the same time, since every nest holds from 200 to 400 caterpillars.

"And yet Lowell is not as badly off as the surrounding towns and cities. I went down past Hood's farm the other day, and about two and a half miles below the farm, found trees on which there was not a green leaf large enough to put a ten-cent piece on. And a farmer with whom I talked would not believe that it was the brown-tail moth that did this. He said that if I could show him printed matter proving it, he would believe, but not before. I according sent him some of the printed matter sent out by the state.

"The outlying towns are in a terrible condition, and are utterly unable to cope with the pest. 'Parasites are of no use, as yet. The matter has been taken up by the government, but there are no results. I am told by a Boston moth expert that a parasite can not be obtained which will do the work, and not become a pest itself.

"The method adopted by the government in Germany, where the Black Forests have become infested, is receiving consideration, and experiments will soon be made in that line. The plan looks reasonable. It rests on the basis of a strong light attracting the moths, and then huge fans sucking them into receptacles for them. In this way lots of them are destroyed. Of course that would have to be done by the government, as no city or town could stand the expense.

"I am sure that such a scheme could work, for my observations in that line have shown me that such methods are feasible. For instance, on the night before the Fourth, before the parade came down Thorndike street, there were hundreds of moths gathered around the electric lights in that vicinity. Suddenly a small boy lighted some red fire a little way down the street, and in a very few minutes there was not a moth to be seen around the electric lights, but they had all flown down to the stronger light made by the red fire.

"Near my house at the corner of Lawrence and Moore streets, last year there was a strong electric light, and the globe had a hole in the glass. Some nights the moths would gather there in such numbers, and fly into the globe, that the light would be entirely obscured, and the moths would be packed inside the globe in a solid mass.

"Last year we received $10,000, of which $4500 went back to the city treasurer. The money was well expended in doing the work of cleaning the trees, and yet Lowell is worse off this year than it has been at all. It is impossible to estimate the number of moth nests in the city.

"Last week, with four men at work, we destroyed 3000 nests, but after this week, we will be unable to have any men at work, owing to the fact that the appropriation has run out.

"The gypsy moths are making no trouble at present, and no damage is being done. About May 1, or a little later, they will get in their work. The brown-tails are already out, and are doing the damage to the trees now. They will be out as long as we have warm weather.

"In order to show how the city is infested with them, when a guard on a tree, a small maple in front of H. B. Greene's house in Stevens street, was taken off, there were found exactly 105 moth nests which were all destroyed.

"At S. N. Wood's residence in Hosford square, we took 376 nests and from the Coburn estate near the city wall, we took over 600 nests.

"Some people think that all that is necessary to destroy the pest is to cut the nests off with a knife, and then leave them on the ground. The nests must be burned."

DOWN AT REVERE

MANY LOWELL PEOPLE ENJOYED THEMSELVES.

Two jumbo trolley cars filled with excursionists left Lowell at 8:30 o'clock yesterday morning over the Boston and Northern street railway to Revere beach.

At 4 o'clock yesterday two jumbo trolley cars left Merrimack square for Swampscott. Here a fishing yacht was boarded and the day was spent in trying fisherman's good luck with the rod and line.

Miss Madeline Hear of the Boston & Northern street railway office, is enjoying her vacation at points of interest along the New England seacoast.

Motorman George Small, of the Gorham street line of the Boston & Northern has returned to work after an eight days' respite from labor at Salisbury beach.

Motorman Bartley Cahill of the Lawrence street line of the Boston & Northern has returned from a week's sojourn at Nantucket.

Mr. Joseph Hart of this city, who is employed in the operating department of the freight car service of the Boston & Maine railroad at the North station, has returned to work from a very enjoyable vacation at Hampton beach. He is a step-brother of Starter Walter Hickey, who does duty at Merrimack square.

Starter John Niles spent yesterday at Paragon park, where he went to meet a married sister, a resident of Springfield, whom he had not before met for a period of fifteen years.

ROWLAND RETURNS

IS ON HIS WAY BACK FROM LABORATORY.

NORTH SYDNEY, N. S., Sept. 1.—J. T. Rowland of Greenwich, Conn., who accompanied Dr. W. T. Grenfell, the famed missionary, on his expedition to Labrador, was a passenger on the steamer Bruce from New Foundland, which arrived here yesterday. He was one of the party that sailed from Boston last July in the Pomuk. He reports having had a thrilling experience with storms and ice in the northern regions, particularly in the gale that swept over the coast of Labrador and sent destruction to half a hundred vessels of the New Foundland fishing fleet. He states that according to a report reaching Dr. Grenfell, the American scientific expedition on board the schooner Lorna Doon, with Dr. Bryant at its head, had reached Nain harbor on Aug. 10, and was still pushing northward. All the members of the party are well.

Nothing has been heard from Commander Peary, but it is presumed that he is now well on his way for the pole.

BAILEY ACCEPTS

HE WILL INVESTIGATE CONDITION OF FARMERS.

ITHACA, N. Y., Sept. 4.—Dean Liberty Bailey of the New York State College of Agriculture at Cornell university, announced yesterday that he had accepted the appointment of President Roosevelt at the head of the commission of five, which is to investigate the condition of farmers and report plans for the betterment of rural life. Dean Bailey declined the appointment when it was made, on account of the press of duties here in connection with his position at the university, but at the urgent request of President Roosevelt and a leave of absence having been granted by President Schurman of Cornell he has reconsidered.

OVER THE WILL OF LATE WALTER F. BAKER

BOSTON, Sept. 4.—The sensational fight over the will of the late Walter F. Baker, a Harvard graduate and well known club man, who died of poisoning at Boston, N. J., Oct. 27, 1907, was ended yesterday by the filing in the supreme court of an agreement by the parties concerned as to a final decree which affirms the will as allowed in the probate court. Baker's estate, it is estimated, amounted to nearly half a million, of which he willed $200,000 to his brother, Edward F. Baker of Boston, $200,000 to Mrs. Helen Bray Hurd of Boston, N. J., and of the residue, one-third to Harvard, one-third to the children of his brother, and the other third to Natalie Hurd, the infant daughter of Frank H. and Mrs. Helen B. Hurd of Boston. Natalie Hurd died last spring and her parents inherited their share.

To Inquire Into Recent Race War Adjourned

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., Sept. 4.—The special grand jury called to probe the recent race war, adjourned yesterday after returning 17 more indictments, this making a total of 117 during the session. Among those returned yesterday afternoon were indictments against four Springfield policemen, Oscar Dahkamp, Joseph Feerendez, George H. Ohlman and George W. Dawson. They are indicted for alleged failure to suppress the riot when detailed for that duty.

The report condemns in unmeasured terms "the cowardly, contemptuous action of those members of the police force, who having taken the oath of office, failed to do their duty."

LATEST BIG BUSINESS GAIN Increased Activities in a Number of Lines of Industry

WASHINGTON, Sept. 4.—Notably increased activities in a number of lines of industry are shown in the July report of the bureau of statistics, department of commerce and labor, on internal commerce of the United States. The report, continued to show improvements over the preceding months of the year. There is a considerably heavier livestock movement reported for the seven months ending with July than for the corresponding period of either of the two immediately preceding years. Grain receipts for July increased over the preceding month and also over July of last year. Lumber and coal movements as well as the production of iron continue to show marked advances over the preceding months of the year, although the total is still below the heavy figures of July, 1907.

More than seventy per cent. of the reporting car associations show gains over the preceding months of the current year.

With returns from forty-five leading cities the building operations for July showed improvement, a small gain over the remarkably large business of July of last year being reported. Trunk line grain shipments of 11,633,000 bushels for July largely exceeded those for July of last year, the gain also showing for the 31 weeks ending with July. The east-bound trunk line movement of provisions during the five weeks ended with July 97,067 tons while in excess of a like period in June fell below the figures for the corresponding period of 1907.

Packing house product receipts of southern pine at New York, pig iron and other productions showed gains over the preceding months. Coal and coke traffic over several eastern coal-carrying roads during July, 1908, aggregating 9,961,996 tons, was far in excess of the preceding month's totals though still nearly three million tons below the like shipments for July, 1907. The increase over the June figures is largely due to the one million ton increase in shipments of bituminous coal.

4000 HOMES WERE BURNED

TOKIO, Sept. 4.—Despatches from the city of Niigata, in the Ichigo province, 18 miles northwest of this city, tell of a fire which occurred in which four thousand houses were destroyed by the flames. Fearful scenes of destitution and suffering are reported as a result of the disaster, and the government is rendering every possible assistance to the inhabitants of the stricken city.

GENERAL DWIGHT LABOR BUREAU

Wants Direct Primary Democrats Place H. V. Skeffington at Head to Settle Fight

HARTFORD, Conn., Sept. 4.—An interesting development today in the contest between Congressman E. Stevens Henry, who is a member of the house committee on agriculture and Gen. Henry C. Dwight of this city for the republican nomination for representative from the first congressional district, was the proposition made by Gen. Dwight in a letter to Congressman Henry that the nomination for congressman from the district be determined by a direct primary.

General Dwight failed to have the convention, which is called to meet Sept. 12, postponed and in his letter to Mr. Henry after pointing out that the failure of the district committee to approve of his suggestion has planned him from carrying out his plans as a candidate, proposed:

"That we leave the decision of the nomination for congressman in our district to the voters to be determined by a direct primary."

Continuing the letter says: "The demand for primary nomination is becoming more and more general. The stamp of popular approval has been added to it. The people are determined to have more of a voice in the selection of candidates than is accorded them under existing conditions."

A RECONCILIATION

James Colfelt Calls on His Wife

PARIS, Sept. 4.—James Colfelt of New York arrived here today and visited his wife in the Beaulieu hospital. It is understood that a reconciliation has taken place.

Mrs. Colfelt, who was a Miss Marion Wilbank of Philadelphia, yesterday made an unsuccessful attempt to commit suicide here by shooting with a revolver. She was depressed because of a misunderstanding with her husband who several weeks ago departed, taking with him their six-year-old son. Today Mr. Colfelt made arrangements to remove his wife to private quarters. Mrs. Colfelt is not considered to be in danger.

FRANK SARGENT

Former Well Known Labor Leader Dead

WASHINGTON, Sept. 4.—Frank P. Sargent, commissioner of immigration, department of commerce and labor, died in this city today of stomach trouble.

Mr. Sargent was born in Orange, Vt. 54 years ago. From 1885 to 1902 he was chief of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen. In 1903 President McKinley appointed him as a member of the Industrial Commission and when he resigned from that office he declined the position as chief of the bureau of engraving and printing. He had been commissioner general of immigration since 1902. He was a 32nd degree Mason and a member of the national Civil Service Federation. He had been ill several months with an ailment of the stomach which refused to yield to the best of medical treatment.

CHESTER JORDAN AND HIS VICTIM AND SKETCHES IN CONNECTION WITH THE TRAGEDY.

He Cut Her Body to Pieces and Packed Them in a Trunk—He Threw Her Head Into a Fur- nace—Chester Jordan of Somerville, Had Planned to Take Remains to Sea and Cast Them Afloat—He Pleaded Not Guilty of Murder

BOSTON, Sept. 4.—Murder in all its fearful gruesomeness, outrivalling the dark deed of Blonkin, the terrible crime at Weston for which Charles Tucker paid the penalty, and all the dread list that the criminal history of New England has ever embraced, led to the finger of guilt being placed on the shoulder of Chester S. Jordan of Somerville last night, branding him as the slayer of his wife.

Jordan is a brother-in-law of Jesse L. Livermore, the millionaire cotton speculator, and formerly was in Livermore's employ.

Most atrocious was the crime, parts of the dismembered body of the woman whom he was supposed to love found here and there, the hair and the scalp in the kitchen stove of their apartment at 509 Medford street in the city of Somerville, the skull brought forth with the thigh bones from the fire pot of the furnace in the cellar, and the torso found by the sluths of the law in a trunk which the wretched man had carted about Boston half the day, only to finally bring it in desperation to a furnished room at 2 Hancock street, an act which proved his undoing.

Jealousy, Police Say
Chester S. Jordan is under arrest and he has told his story—looked on almost in the light of a confession, the police say. Jealousy was the cause that led to it all.

The wife was jealous of her fiancé, appearing husband. The prisoner himself "mid sobs and tears gave out the story to Captain Dugan, who handles the unraveling of murder cases in Boston.

That act—the cutting up of his wife's body, the sawing of the bones, the gathering up of the dripping blood, the attempt to wipe out evidences of murder by the washing of garments, and, finally, the conception of the mind to take the torso into Boston or to New York, and dispose of it with more cutting and the weighting of packages of flesh and bone by sinking them in the sea—all this did Chester S. Jordan admit last night.

Given Third Degree

The terrible third degree was placed upon him. He recalled that he had struck his wife Tuesday night. She had led him on to it. For two years she had been jealous of him. He could not stand it any longer, the continual pecking at him regarding the claim that he was giving his affections to others.

He struck her—the statement was repeated—he knocked her down and she fell down the back stairs of their apartment.

"I saw her fall," he said. "Officers, as God is my judge, I remembered no more until Wednesday morning." It came out, yet it was not a confession of murder. He had remembered nothing, he said, from the time that she had fallen. But this he did assert as more pretexts of truth, that as he came down the stairs from his room at the top of the house, he found her body lying unclothed in the kitchen—that her throat was cut from ear to ear—and that, then, knowing that the whole world would hold suspicion of him, he had decided to cut up the body and dispose of it.

Tragedy of Many Parts.

There are many parts in the great domestic tragedy that last night stirred Somerville to its depths and the telling of the dread tale involves many, both in the nature of witnesses and by reason of the fact that Jordan and his wife are so well known.

The dead woman was Hannah O'Reilly, a native of England, and about 35 years of age. She had been an actress on the stage of the vaudeville theatres, had played at the old Howard in Boston under the name of Irene Shannon and had met Jordan six years ago, while he also was engaged in the show business.

They had been married four years and the young man, for Jordan is but 29, had brought her to the Medford

LOWELL PREACHER

DELIVERED A SERMON AT OAK BLUFFS

Rev. F. A. Macdonald, of the Fifth Street Baptist church, returned yesterday after a very pleasant sojourn of five weeks at Oak Bluffs, where he has spent his vacation for several years past.

Sunday, August 30, he had the honor of preaching to an unusually large audience at Union chapel.

Mr. Macdonald's sermon rendered so fluently, was highly appreciated by the audience. A repetition of the same was desired for next Sunday but as his season for recreation is now at a close he was obliged to decline.

He will resume his duties Sunday September 6th at his own church.

POLICE COURT

Number of Cases Tried Before Judge Hadley Today

Peter Johns was the complainant against Michael Dolan for assault in police court today. Dolan pleaded not guilty and was represented by Lawyer Donahue. When Johns was put on the witness stand he balked at taking the oath and when asked if he was a Christian replied that he was a Mohammedan. But a little thing like that couldn't keep this court and Peter was obliged to swear by the beard of the prophet, which he did through an interpreter.

It seems that Johns and Dolan collided one evening on Centralville bridge and a mix-up followed. But Dolan was arrested. There were several witnesses for the defense and each described the affair in his own way. One called it a clout, another said it was a smash, a third described it as a shove—still another as a punch and finally Deputy Welch, to add to the picturesque of the language called it a "belt," whereupon Lawyer Donahue remarked: "What do you mean a championship belt?" When the evidence was all in, Judge Hadley promptly found the defendant not guilty.

File and Drum.

Poor old Patrick Drum was in as a vagrant and Judge Hadley immediately recognized him as an old timer who used to get in years ago and whose family has since passed away leaving him alone in the world in his farm. His appearance recalled the fact that long ago when Patrick used to appear in court, another old timer named Fife would get in about the same time, and many jokes were cracked about "Fife and Drum." But Fife has long since blown out, while Drum will beat it to the farm to await the sounding of "taps."

For Contempt.

Joseph Durant was a government witness in the Johns assault case which was called in police court yesterday. When Durant's name was called it was found that he had not appeared although recognized to be present. Accordingly the case was continued and Durant was defaulted and a capias issued for his arrest. He was located in Chelmsford and last night was arrested and was locked up overnight. This morning he pleaded guilty to a charge of contempt of court and said that being unable to speak English he didn't quite comprehend the importance of the order of the court. The court upon learning that he had been locked up overnight let him go with the warning that if he failed to appear next Wednesday when the case is called he will be severely dealt with.

Boy Burglars

Frank Bergeron and Achille Lefebvre, two youths, were charged with breaking and entering the house of Chavalanopoulos Constantopoulos, and according to all accounts stole everything except the owner's name, which was secured a job wagon to carry away. The plunder included a watch valued at $5, a ring valued at $30, a breast pin valued at $3, two handkerchiefs and other small articles. They pleaded not guilty and were held in $300, until next week.

"Ladies" Fall Out

There was a rough-house in Silk street yesterday when Catherine Haskell and Kate Sulcliffe after a hozen-fest all night got mixing it up in their rooms. Margaret Rourke had a ring side seat during the contest and Georgia Brady, who lives down stairs, rushed up to serve as referee. Georgia said that when she dawned upon the scene, the two "ladies" were fastened into each other's hair while the lamp was smashed and there were interior decorations consisting of empty bottles. Catherine, the fair aggressor, was fined $15, to be paid in three days or two months in jail, while Margaret Rourke shooled for 14 days.

The Regular Cases

Thomas Duffy, a third timer, was sent to the state farm. John J. Leary, who was under a suspended sentence of four months, was sent up, the suspension being revoked. William L. Ferris, charged with being a common drunkard, was continued until Wednesday.

WANTS SISTER MOROCCO CITY

Letter to Mayor Farnham Asking Help

The following letter, which is self-explanatory, was received by Mayor Farnham today:

Bangor, Me., Aug. 30 1908.

Mr. Frederick Farnham, Mayor, Lowell.

Dear Sir—I am going to write to ask you a great favor. Would you kindly help me find my sister, who lives in Lowell. I have not seen her since I was five years old, and thought perhaps you being mayor would surely get some trace of her. The name is either Mary or Margery Pinkham. I have tried ever so many times to find her. Hoping I am not asking too much from you, I remain, Yours respectfully,

N. E. TELEPHONE CO.

Has Got Control of Three Independent Concerns.

BOSTON, Sept. 4.—Announcement was made today by the New England Telephone & Telegraph Co. that it has secured control of the Northeastern Telephone Co., the Lewiston-Auburn Telephone Co. and the Cumberland Telephone Co., three independent companies operating in some twenty-five towns and cities in the state of Maine. The largest of the three companies is the Northeastern, which was incorporated under the laws of Maine in 1912 under the name of the Lirigo Telephone Co., its name being changed to the Northeastern Tel. Co. in 1902. The company was not successful financially, and in 1907 passed into the hands of a receiver. At a time the receivership was established the company had about 700 subscribers and a deficit of more than $30,000.

"AD" COURTSHIP BIGAMY CHARGE MAY BE YEGGMAN

Ends in a Suit for $10,000

NEW YORK, Sept. 4.—"44 Connecticut—I am a young lady, 22, educated and refined, fine complexion; large, sparkling brown eyes, brown hair, classical features; excellent health; artistically and musically inclined; good cook, housekeeper and seamstress; English-American, have $2000 and will inherit a farm of 36 acres. I desire to marry an honest, educated man. Will make a happy home if I find the right man."

Such was the advertisement which Owen W. Farrell, 59, read in a paper published in Toledo, O. He wrote to the fair one with sparkling brown eyes, and they met and plighted their troth. Now the "educated and refined young lady" is suing Farrell for $10,000 damages, claiming him with breach of promise of marriage.

She, it turns out, is Miss Helen M. Scully, who lives here now. Farrell is a hotel keeper at Deposit, Broome county, N. Y.

Miss Scully, in her complaint, sets forth that on Dec. 12 last Mr. Farrell promised to marry her, and that relying on his promise she has remained "sole and unmarried."

Farrell, in his answering affidavit, tells of the matrimonial "ad" and of his correspondence with Miss Helen. She visited his mother and him at Deposit and the future seemed very to Farrell until the "good cook, housekeeper and seamstress" told him she had been exchanging letters with a man in Los Angeles and had determined to marry him because he lived "in a nice climate." However much Farrell suffered, that thereupon Miss Helen and he released each other from their engagement.

She went to California, he swears, but returning, saying she would not marry the Los Angeles man because he "drank and was out of employment." Coyly she sought to renew her engagement with Farrell, but he repulsed her.

Woman Was Arrested at Hancock, N. H.

MANCHESTER, N. H., Sept. 4.—Charged with bigamy, Mrs. Mabel E. the wife of John R. Van Rensselaer, a musician of Paterson, N. J., was arrested in Hancock yesterday by Sheriff Fred K. Ramsey of Manchester, and being unable to furnish $400 bail, was brought to the county jail here tonight. It is alleged that she married Van Rensselaer in Paterson in February, 1902. Then, without securing a divorce, it is claimed she married Chas. L. E. Hayward, a well-to-do Hancock farmer, in 1906. Hayward and the woman separated six weeks ago, and it is said he had since discovered that she has a legal husband in Paterson. Sheriff Ramsey went to Paterson, and at a conference with Van Rensselaer secured the evidence upon which the prosecution bases its case.

Mrs. Van Rensselaer (that being the name specified in the complaint) has retained counsel, and at the hearing this afternoon before Judge White of Peterboro entered a plea of not guilty and waived examination.

The request by County Solicitor Amos Bosvert that the case be continued to Sept. 11 was granted. Mr. Hayward accompanied the officers to the farm in Hancock yesterday, where she has been living since their separation.

THE FINAL TEST OF THE MAXIM GUN-SILENCING DEVICE.

SPRINGFIELD, Sept. 4.—Hiram Percy Maxim's gun-silencing device received its final test here yesterday at the hands of a board of officers attached to the United States army, the test being to determine whether the device would afford protection to skirmishers or sharpshooters advancing on an enemy. The test is said to have been entirely successful.

Shots were fired at varying distances and in no case was the testing board able to determine with unanimity the direction of the shots, the discharges being inaudible even at the shortest distance, 250 yards, and the officers being compelled to judge the direction from the whir of the bullet.

Bad Looking Man Tried to Board Car

BUT CONDUCTOR WOOD PREVENTED HIM.

He Was Left Behind Near Nashua and Police of That City and Lowell Were Notified.

Car Conductor Joseph Wood of the Boston and Northern street railway, believes that he had a mild experience with a yeggman this morning while on his car from Nashua to this city. There wasn't any gun play or anything of that kind but "Joe" didn't like the looks of the fellow whom he believes was a yeggman.

It was at this side of Nashua that the fellow showed up. In broken English he told "Joe" that he had no money but that he intended to ride just the same. That noise didn't sound good to "Joe," and he "tired" the fellow from the car. Then he gave the motorman the go-ahead ding-dong and the supposed yeggman was left in the road. He made a motion when the car left him but did not produce a gun.

When "Joe" reached the next telephone he called Walter Hickey and told him of his run in. Passengers on the car told Mr. Wood that the Nashua police were looking for a man who fitted the description of the man that he encountered. He told the story to Walter Hickey and Walter immediately telephoned to the Nashua police. He also communicated with the local police. The Nashua police said that they were not looking for any particular yeggman and the Lowell police would not harbor the thought that a yeggman would even dare to turn his route toward Lowell.

TWO BOYS SHOT

One of Them Not Expected to Live

PROVIDENCE, R. I., Sept. 4.—John Esmond, aged 5, and his brother Frank, aged 7, were shot in the Silver Lake district yesterday afternoon by Miss Louisa A. Allen, housekeeper for John Morrison. John is fatally wounded and is in the Rhode Island hospital, and Miss Allen is under arrest at the police station.

The shooting took place as a result of depredations wrought by lads in the orchard belonging to Morrison.

Yesterday afternoon Miss Allen left the house on business, and on her return she found Morrison's mother, an aged woman, in a state bordering on hysteria, due to the actions of the boys. The housekeeper went to the window, carrying a loaded shot gun with her, and warned the lads that if they did not leave she would shoot. She had no effect, and the boys dared her to shoot.

Miss Allen says she then pulled the trigger once without intention to shoot any one. The lads allege that she fired both barrels and levelled the gun at them as she did so.

On being removed to the hospital the boy John was found to have received nine of the shot, some in the region of the heart, others in the chest and two in the abdomen. Frank Esmond was also wounded, but less severely than his brother. Dr. Thompson, who was called in to attend the lads, gave it as his opinion that John's injuries were likely to prove fatal.

LARCENY CHARGE

Lawrence Contractor Placed Under Arrest

LAWRENCE, Sept. 4.—William Carroll, a well-known contractor of this city, was served with a warrant yesterday ordering him to appear in court to answer the charge of larceny of realty, the property of the city. The lodging of the complaint, it is said, was at the request of Mayor Kane, after a number of complaints had been registered by residents of Richmond street, the locality from which Carroll carted sand to use in the work of cementing a sewer, for which the city awarded the contract at a very low figure.

The warrant was granted after a conference between City Solicitor D. J. Murphy, Acting Inspector Remick, Police Court Clerk W. F. Noyes and City Marshal John Sheehan.

BOY WAS KILLED

HE FELL UNDER WHEELS OF COAL CART.

BOSTON, Sept. 4.—Before the eyes of an elder brother, 5-year-old Johnnie McDermott was run over and instantly killed in front of his home by a coal wagon on Brookside avenue, Jamaica Plain yesterday afternoon after frightening the horses and falling from the seat of the cart.

The fatality occurred while Simon Frasier, driver for the Bradford Coal company, was in the McDermott house delivering coal. Both wheels passed over the child's head and abdomen fearfully crushing the body.

The parents of the boy collapsed on being informed of the fatality. The police say that the boy was responsible for the accident, as either he or his older brother Peter struck the horses with a switch that started them into a run.

Medical Examiner McDonald later viewed the remains and after saying that death was instantaneous, promptly issued the burial certificate.

ROOSEVELT AND HIS PROXY.

President Roosevelt has found it necessary to break his enforced silence long enough to say that Hughes of New York must be renominated for governor. The voters of New York will understand that in doing this, he is pleading for Taft rather than Hughes.

It is very peculiar that the president must run the politics of the individual states as well as of the nation. He may be expected soon to announce that Taft must be elected.

The president seems to be so conceited that he believes the country would go to smash if he were not on hand to steer things in the right direction. He contemplates a prolonged hunting trip to Africa, and with that in mind he hopes that he can leave Taft as a presidential proxy to run the country in his absence.

If we are to judge from the temper of the average business man today, as to the effect of these mandates from the president, we should expect that there would be a prompt revival of business immediately following Mr. Roosevelt's departure for Africa. The regrettable thing about it is, that he cannot get away sooner. There is a constitutional provision against it, but he has shown such disregard for the constitution that he might have ignored that clause with the rest of the articles.

There is much silly talk about the royal prerogatives of some European rulers as compared with the "simple" duties of the president of the United States; but we may state here that King Edward of England does not exercise one thousandth part of the power exercised in autocratic style by the president of the United States in legislative, executive and political matters. He has even undertaken to criticize the courts for their legal decisions in various important cases. When Haywood, Moyer and Pettibone were on trial on the charge of murder, the president undertook to prejudice their case and intimidated before the trial that they were guilty, when he said they were "undesirable citizens." The people of this country are tired of the intermeddling propensities of the president, and they are tired of the panic precipitated for the purpose of coercing the people into electing Taft who has been specially selected to carry out the pet policies of the president.

What, oh! what, will this country do if Taft should fail of election, and if Roosevelt should carry out his engagement with certain publishers to go to the wilds of Africa? He will make trouble there as well as here, for the habitues of the dark continent as well as those of the United States appreciate the privilege of being let alone.

Dick Croker was right when he hinted that we need a president who would keep his mouth shut a part of the time. If in addition to complying with this requirement our next president will attend strictly to his own business, then the country will soon gravitate back to its normal condition.

THE POLICE CHANGES.

That Senior Lieutenant Brosnan was not made captain instead of Lieutenant Downey may be explained by the fact that once upon a time he was a candidate for head of the department, and, therefore, an opponent of the present superintendent. It happened, however, that the superintendent became his own successor with complete control of the department.

The commission decided that it would serve the interest of the department best by appointing to the captaincy the man selected by the superintendent. As Commissioner Roulger stated, however, Lieutenant Brosnan was in line for promotion to the vacancy, and he had filled the place from time to time when Captain Kew was on his vacation, sometimes for as much as six weeks. What we have to say here, however, is no reflection upon the new captain who is considered in every way competent for the position.

THE GREAT AUTO RACE.

The prospect at the present time is that the auto race on Labor day will be one of the greatest ever held in this country. It will undoubtedly be a great boom for Lowell, and will popularize the auto not only in Lowell but in this part of the state.

The managers deserve well the support of the public, and it is to be hoped that the patronage of the grand stands will be liberal enough to defray the heavy expenses of the undertaking.

We believe, however, that any attempt to rope off the land along the river bank would start a boom for private grand stands and points of vantage along Varnum avenue from which the automobile club would receive no benefit.

The Sun wishes the management every success in its efforts to carry out this race in a creditable manner in the face of many obstacles and at great expense in time, labor and money.

THE MILK INSPECTOR PROBLEM.

The board of aldermen, before confirming the appointment of Leroy Turner as milk inspector, should find out for certain whether he is a practical chemist.

It has been remarked that the late Major Allen was not much of a chemist when he was appointed, but it may be recalled also that the office paid but a small salary when he took charge. The city needs a practical chemist in that place, and the salary now paid is sufficient to secure the services of such an incumbent.

During the recent financial flurry, a German farmer went to the bank for some money. He was told that the bank was not paying out money but was using cashier's checks. He could not understand this, and insisted on money. The cashier took him in hand, one at a time, with his hand, and after a long and minute explanation some intelligence of the situation seemed to be dawning on the farmer's mind. Finally the president said: "You understand now fully how it is. Hans, don't you?" "Yes," said Hans, "I think I do. It's like this, isn't it? Ven by baby vakes up at night and wants some milk, I get him a milk ticket."

The London Tribune says that a West England paper recently published the following report of the career of a mad dog: "The infuriated animal was soon tearing up High street at full speed, and we regret to state that it severely bit the mayor's son and several other dogs which happened to be in the vicinity."

THE NEAR-ORPHANS.

I'm almost, but not wholly, homeless; You can't understand how it feels—I wish that my father would roam less And mother were here for meals. Please find me a parent restorer, My thanks you will find very warm; My father's a polar explorer, And mother goes in for reform.

I saw him when I was just seven, I see her a moment each day; I'm now pretty well past eleven, So you'll feel for me when I say That I shall be more than delighted When all of us get the glad news That father the north pole has sighted And mother has put through her views.

My mother is telling the nation The rights and wrongs of its laws, My father with great tribulation Upon his last boathook now gnaws; Poor father don't like the cold weather, But still he is seeking the pole; Poor mother pulls herself together, And strives to press on to the goal.

I wish I had some vocation To occupy most of my time; Like mother, I might urge the nation To turn to us lifting and climb, But she might be snippily jealous; So that's just the way that it goes; With further so eagerly zealous To follow his frost-bitten nose.

Some day we may be reunited— My father, my mother, and I, And then I'll be truly delighted, But now I am not. This is why: I yearn for a parent restorer, My thanks you will find very warm, For father's a polar explorer, And mother goes in for reform.

RESULT IN VERMONT SATISFACTORY.

New Bedford Times: The wonderful state of Vermont has voted, and both old parties claim to be satisfied. Before the election it was claimed that the republicans would have at least 30,000 majority, without which it would look dark for Taft. The returns indicate a majority of about 25,000 and a plurality of 25,000.

The independence league cast about 100 votes, which indicates that the masses of voters are still standing on old party lines.

The democrats have made big gains in the Vermont legislature, over which they are very happy.

Looking upon Vermont as a presidential year "barometer," the result of Tuesday's election indicates that the count is not yet greatly disturbed. The result is on the whole rather in favor of Bryan than Taft; and it must be remembered that the democrats did not put up much of a contest, while the republicans flooded the state with good speakers.

The great light is to be made in the west, and the outlook in that section is more than satisfactory to the Bryan managers. "This is a democratic year."

MOB COSTS IN ILLINOIS.

Worcester Post: A number of suits have already been brought and more are in prospect in Springfield under the Illinois law allowing the owner of property destroyed by a mob to recover three-fourths of its value from the county, and dependent heirs of any one killed by a mob to recover $500 from the same source. The aggregate of verdicts in such cases can well reach up into six figures. The indictments being found for participation in the rioting—supposing the grand jury to be acting honestly—show that the negroes were worse offenders than the whites. But even if so this makes no difference with the county's liability. The duty of government was to protect all men alike and for its failure to do so it is justly liable to any sufferer.

Such a law generally applied would be the most effective cure for the mob spirit, because self-interest would do away with the disposition to shield participants which makes it so difficult now practically to get proof against them.

PEOPLE OF NOTE

Because he cheered too much for Roosevelt at Chicago, Charles E. Payne, a Washington colored politician, has been committed to the insane asylum. While the attempt was being made to stampede the convention for Roosevelt, Payne stood with thousands of others, shouting enthusiastically waving his hat, his throat strained and his eyes bulging. Something snapped in his brain, Payne went to Chicago mentally sound. When he came back he would strike a pose, one hand under the first button of his coat, the other outstretched in approved oratorical gesture, and a rave of Roosevelt, Taft and the republican party. His one great absorbing sorrow was that Roosevelt had not been renominated, and when he pondered on this he grew melancholy and morose. The jury called to consider the case required only a few minutes to decide that Payne's political enthusiasm had reached a stage where it would be dangerous to permit him to wander unrestrained.

Andrew Carnegie has donated $7000 for the relief of the families of the 70 sailors who lost their lives as a result of an explosion which occurred in the shipyard mine in England on August 15.

It is a notable fact that Edith Wynne Matthison, who is Mrs. Charles Rann Kennedy, the wife of the author of "The Servant in the House," and leading woman in the cast, acted in the very first play Mr. Kennedy ever wrote. "Rather late," the author describes it, "and I forgot it besides. An old soap-boiler, though, turns out to be a godlike symbol somehow." This debut performance was thoroughly amateur, the plucky little company making all their own scenery and costumes; and in a sense it was a family affair, too, since the author's collaborator and assistant manager was the brother of the leading lady. These two, Mr. Kennedy and Miss Matthison, were not acquaintances of the stage, but children together in Warwickshire.

On a recent trip in the Maine woods while Holman Day was gathering material for his novel, "King Spruce," he encountered a "timber cruiser" who was in some respects the prototype of a character in the novel. When this "cruiser" was starting on a three days' expedition in the wilderness his preparations consisted of donning a high pair of laced boots and filling his pockets with raisins. For three days he tramped through swamps and underbrush and over mountains, covering some 20 miles a day. His only food was the raisins; he carried no blankets and wore no coat. In the course of such a trip the explorer would lose 15 pounds in weight. His companion, a veteran cruiser over 65, was also lightly equipped, carrying a bottle of gin, a little tea, and a few crackers.

STRANG ARRIVES

build a new car and it does not take the machinists accompanying the car long to remedy the difficulty.

During the race the machinists will be placed at "controls" along the course and if a car is crippled it will be taken to the nearest control and repaired.

Lescault's Tryout

Lescault, one of the most daring riders to compete in the race, suffered greatly from the cold and after making several rounds of the course stopped his machine near the entrance to the new boulevard in order to get "thawed out." Shortly before six o'clock, after tucking several copies of The Sun under his big sweater, in order to break the wind, he started around the course, and made some fast time.

Lescault in conversation with a representative of The Sun said that the heavy roads are much better for him than for the other contestants inasmuch as his machine is much heavier than the others and is less liable to meet with an accident owing to bad roads.

Dangerous Point

While practically every bad spot in the course has been picked out and commented upon, there is a very bad turn from the Trotting park road into Varnum avenue which is very difficult to make. The machines come down the steep hill by the old Forrest house and then make a rather abrupt turn into Varnum avenue. The majority of the drivers slacken when they reach this point, but Lescault goes around it almost every time at top speed, but he has got to skid his machine in such a manner that it is the ordinary spectator it looks as though the machine would turn turtle. This morning when he made the last round he came down the hill at break-neck speed and though he made a very close turn his machine skidded about 20 feet.

Robertson made four trips around the course and after getting back to the garage stated that his machine was in the pink of condition. Yesterday morning two of the cylinders on his machine cracked and it was necessary to insert two new ones. In fact, with the new cylinders in, the Fiat acted much better today than it did yesterday and Robertson is in hopes that he will have all of his difficulty prior to the race.

Charles Basle and Bourque, the drivers of the Knox machines, made some fast rounds. Basle, who is known as the "Flying Dutchman," is a very nervous driver and it is expected that he will perform some clever stunts on the day of the race. He has no fear of danger and is happiest when the machine is going at top speed.

Extra Morning Cars

The public has taken such an interest in the try-outs that the Boston & Northern has decided to run special cars along the Varnum avenue route tomorrow and Sunday mornings. Cars will leave Merrimack square at 4 o'clock, 4:30, 5 and 5:30 o'clock. There fore it is a good safe bet that there will be a big attendance tomorrow and Sunday mornings.

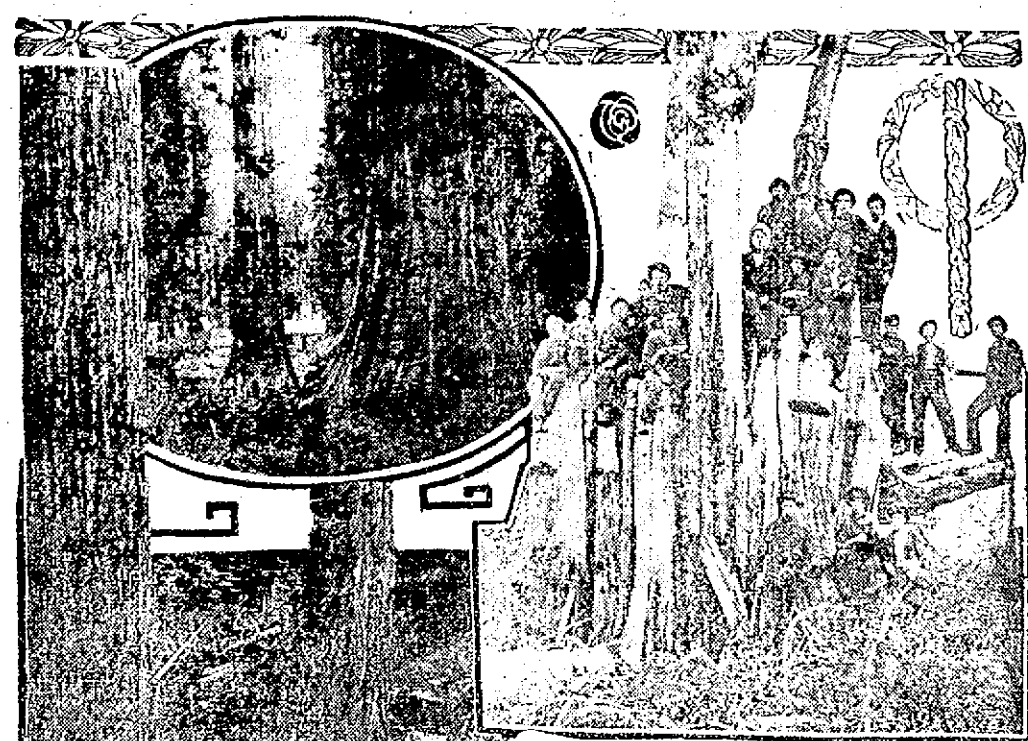

An effort is being made to enter a six-cylinder Berlet car. The specifications stated in the call for entries limited the length of stroke of pistons for the various cars. The Berlet exceeds the stated specifications by something under an inch. Grant, the driver of the Berlet, is scheduled to arrive in Lowell today and it is understood that the contestants in the race are willing that an exception be made and allow the Berlet to be entered.

Yesterday's Sales

Yesterday it was reported that the tickets in the grand stands were going very fast and it now looks like a sell out before the race starts. Private stands are making big sales and will undoubtedly do a rushing business.

James T. Sullivan, the automobile writer, was in town yesterday and went over the course. He pronounced it superior to anything in the road racing line he had ever seen.

The two local garages have taken on a very busy appearance in the last few days, due to the influx of the auto racing men. Hundreds view the cars daily and many mechanics have got as near the machines as possible. All are carefully watched, however, and there is no handling of them allowed. The average automobile racer

Calaveras Group Attacked by Forest Fire

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 4.—News that forest fires were invading the Calaveras group of big trees in California sent a pang to the hearts of thousands of tourists who have seen these famous world wonders. All the forest rangers and residents of the place went forth to protect the monarchs. The great fallen hulk known as "the Mother of the Forest," 227 feet long and seventy-eight feet in circumference, was in the path of the fire. The destruction of the big grove would be a calamity. The only living specimens of the Sequoias gigantea, or big trees, are those found in California, and there are only groups of these, containing many notable trees. The Calaveras grove is probably the most remarkable of all.

NINE CREDITORS

Filed Claims Against Harry K. Thaw

PITTSBURG, Sept. 4.—Eight small claims against the bankruptcy estate of Harry Thaw were filed with Referee William R. Blair late yesterday. The claims were proved by Attorneys Stone and Boyd, and the firms of Stone & Stone and Gordon & Stone. Stone & Stone presented their own claim of $100 and that of Receiver Roger O'Hara for $40. The claim of Joseph Copley Thaw, a brother of Harry Thaw, for $80, was also approved. Nine creditors have now filed their claims with Referee Blair. Mrs. Mary Thaw, the mother, being the only creditor to prove claim before yesterday. The first meeting of the creditors of Thaw will be held in Referee Blair's office on Monday.

REV. JOS. JERGE

Well Known Jesuit Priest Died at St. John

ST. JOHN, N. B., Sept. 4.—Rev. Joseph Jerge, of Boston, a well known priest of the Order of the Society of Jesus, died last night in this city. Fr. Jerge had been ill of heart trouble for three weeks and his condition became so serious a week ago that Rev. Fr. Thomas I. Gasson, head of the Boston pulpit of the Jesuit order, and president of Boston college, was sent for. Father Gasson was with him at the last. The deceased priest came here July 31 to conduct a retreat but was stricken with heart failure before its termination.

For some time Father Jerge was connected with the Jesus House at Woodstock, Md., and was also superior at St. Joseph's church, Philadelphia. Later he was stationed in New York and Boston. At the latter city he was appointed priest at the church of the Immaculate Conception. He was celebrated as a pulpit orator.

TRUE RUSSIANS JORDAN IN COURT

Are Preparing to Resume Anti-Jewish Raids

ODESSA, Sept. 4.—The Union of True Russians, the reactionary organization of Odessa, after six months of inactivity, is preparing to resume its anti-Jewish raids. The present governor general of this city, Gen. Tolnatcheff, is determined that they shall not, and there are evidences that he will proceed in this direction with more energy than any of his predecessors. The general has just issued an order in which he informs the union that he will under no circumstances tolerate the existence of their "fighting faction," and that he will take strict measures toward its suppression. Imprisonment for three months, to be followed by expulsion from the country will be the punishment for violation of this order. The firm stand of the governor general is due to renewed attacks by members of the union on peaceful Hebrews.

PRESIDENT ENTERTAINS VISITORS

OYSTER BAY, N. Y., Sept. 4.—After a day's rest yesterday the president today entertained a number of official visitors. On the morning train, John A. Schleicher, editor of Leslie's Weekly, arrived. Other visitors during the day were Henry A. Wise, United States assistant district attorney from New York; Bishop C. H. Brent, Protestant Episcopal bishop of the Philippines; James F. Williams and Richard V. Cushman, both of the Taft campaign bureau; Hamilton Fish of New York, assistant treasurer of the United States; Howard Richards of New York, and Major E. A. Wadsworth of Avon, N. Y., both personal friends of the president.

REP. D. J. FOSTER

SAYS VERMONT MAJORITY COULD HAVE BEEN LARGER.

NEW YORK, Sept. 4.—The first republican leader in Vermont to arrive at the headquarters of the republican national committee since the election in that state last Tuesday was Representative D. J. Foster of the first district.

Mr. Foster who was re-elected to congress, reached the national headquarters today. "We could have made the state majority larger," said he, in speaking of the election, "but nearly everybody in the state believes that Bryanism is stone dead throughout the country and therefore that Vermont was not called upon to roll up an unprecedented majority. As it is the majority is one to be proud of."

Arraigned for Murder of His Wife He Pleaded Not Guilty

Further Details of the Crime Brought Out by Police Inquiry—His Sanity is Questioned

BOSTON, Sept. 4.—But few points in connection with the most horrible and gruesome murder recorded in the annals of crime in Greater Boston, that of Mrs. Honora Jordan, an actress, about 35 years of age, who was known on the stage as Irene Shannon, by her husband, Chester S. Jordan, aged 29 years, remained to be cleared up by the police today, although the several portions of the woman's body were discovered only last night. The confession of the husband to the police following the arrest after the accidental discovery of the mutilated torso of his wife in a trunk, which he caused to be placed in a room at number 7 Hancock street, this city, was believed to be a substantial recital of the incidents of the brutal crime, but several minor details of his confession conflicted with each other and his story was unconnected in parts.

He Told Everything

As a result of his examination by the police officials at headquarters in this city last night he disclosed all the apparently important facts in connection with the murder and gave the information which led to the discovery of the scalped head of the murdered woman and the portions of the two larger bones of her legs, the only parts not contained in the trunk, at his home at 509 Medford street, Somerville. He also gave a plausible reason in a remark by his wife, in fact, according to his story, by her belief that he had stated that following her epithet he struck her, knocking her down a flight of stairs. He claims that this blow is the only cause by which he is responsible so far as he knows for her death, as following his striking her he remembers nothing until the next morning when, on awaking, he found her nude body at the foot of the stairs. At this later time, however, his wife's neck was slashed from ear to ear.

Motive for Crime

On this portion of his confession the police place the least credence and their efforts in today's investigations centered in a search for another stronger motive, while the medical examiner carefully examined the body for marks of the blow which caused her death. The evidence of the gashing of the neck was plain and it was believed that this caused the woman's death but Jordan's denial of any knowledge of this act made the matter one for close attention. His story of aphasia following the blow which knocked Mrs. Jordan down the stairs is also a point upon which the police have laid particular stress in their instructions to the medical examiners during the latter's examination of Jordan himself as it was supposed that he might be a victim of drugs. This latter idea he denies. Attorney William Scherhorn, who has been procured for the defense of Jordan by Jesse Livermore, the millionaire cotton speculator of New York, states that he already has evidence of Jordan's mental derangement several weeks before the murder and in this case the murderer's insanity may account for some of the lapses in his confession although as a whole it is remarkably clear.

Cut Body in Halves

Following the finding of his wife's body Wednesday morning, Jordan says he first severed the body in halves, using a hacksaw to cut it through the abdomen and then proceeded to unjoint the various limbs and head with the idea of fitting them into a steamer trunk. In order to do this it was necessary to strip the flesh from the body and he disposed of the flesh in the packing by placing it in crevices between the bones. The head and thighs he put in the furnace after scalding the head and placing the hair in the kitchen range. In this range he cooked a meal which he ate on the boards of a pair of set tubs which he had used as an operating table in cutting the body and the tubs of which at the time contained the gruesome parts of the body.

Sending the trunk to the South station in Boston by express he went about his work as usual Wednesday, and Thursday he hired a cabman to call for the trunk and convey it to the steamer "Yale" which he intended to board for New York. It was the cabman, George W. Collins, who later informed the police. Finding that the Yale was in New York and not due to sail he rode to Hancock street where he hired a room in which to place the trunk was opened by policeman.

Mrs. Jordan was married to her present husband in 1904 after securing a divorce from Charles Eddy. Her maiden name was Honora O'Reilly and on the stage she was known as Irene Shannon. It is understood that she expected to leave for her birthplace in England within a week.

Before the Court

When brought before Justice J. H. Butler in the Somerville police court this forenoon, Jordan pleaded "not guilty" to the charge of having murdered his wife. The case was continued until Friday, Sept. 11 and Jordan was remanded to the Somerville jail.

The courtroom, which is located on the floor above the jail, in the police station building in Union square, was crowded when Officer Ray and Inspector Danvers brought the prisoner into court. Jordan showed no signs of nervousness and looked quietly about the room.

"You are charged with the murder of your wife, Honora Jordan," said Judge Butler. "Are you guilty or not guilty?"

"I am not guilty, your honor," replied Jordan.

Jeremiah S. Sullivan, counsel for Jordan, then asked that the case be continued for one week. Judge Butler granted the motion and announced that the case would come up for a hearing next Friday.

ISADOR GOLDEN

Wanted on Charge of Dynamiting Safe

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 4.—Notification has been received by the police department here that Isador Golden, now awaiting trial on a burglary charge, is wanted in Boston on a charge of dynamiting a safe and getting away with $1900. Golden is known as "Saucy Nose" in Boston, and other charges besides the dynamiting against him are on file there.

SOCIAL AND FRATERNAL

Highland-Veritas lodge, I. O. O. F., met last night. The attendance was large and considerable business of importance was transacted. There was a degree rehearsal by the staff.

There are already a number of applications on hand and the work will start in earnest in a few weeks. Preparations were made for the annual red letter night to be held in the near future. Next Wednesday evening there will be a light collation served in the lower hall and all brothers are extended a cordial invitation to be present.

WOMEN'S RELIEF CORPS

One application was received at last night's meeting of James A. Garfield Women's Relief Corps. The corps is planning for the 25th anniversary in November, the past presidents acting as the general committee. The corps will hold an outing at Mrs. Hattie Proctor's Sept. 24. The secretary, Mrs. Hattie Whitney, leaves for Albany Saturday, to visit her sister, Mrs. Elizabeth R. Barry, who is ill.

Lowell Aerie of Eagles met last night. President William F. Higgins in the chair, and final preparations were made for the annual field day to be held at Mountain Rock.

Visiting birds will be present from all over the state and the local aerie expects to have the presence of the state officials and the majority of the delegates from Massachusetts who attended the convention at Seattle.

Five propositions were received at the meeting. Arrangements were also made to have a grand class initiation and social at Elks hall, Nov. 19.

CREW MUTINIED A MILITARY BALL

Tragedy on Chilean
Bark Eaton Hall

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 4.—News of a mutiny and a tragedy on the Chilean bark Eaton Hall during a stormy voyage, in which the vessel was dismantled, was brought here yesterday from Tahiti.

The Eaton Hall was bound from New Castle, Australia, to Valparaiso with a cargo of coal. On Aug. 12 when the ship was about sixty miles from Thorcaea Reef, a storm sprang up, tearing the masts out and tilting the decks with debris. Subsequently, while Capt. McLean was making every effort to bring his almost helpless ship to port, the sailors became mutinous, and in the trouble that followed a sailor was killed. Finally the bark was picked up by a French power boat and towed to Papeete, where she will be repaired.

ISTHMIAN CANAL

The Work on it is Being Pushed This Year

WASHINGTON, Sept. 4.—The report cabled to the Washington office of the Isthmian canal commission from Col. George W. Goethals, chairman of the canal commission, shows that the total excavation for the month of August was 3,262,506 cubic yards, place measurement, against 3,105,840 cubic yards in previous month, and 1,288,663 cubic yards in August last year, or an increase of 1,973,643 cubic yards over the corresponding month in 1907.

Closed Spanish War
Vets Reunion

BOSTON, Sept. 4.—The fifth annual encampment of the United Spanish War veterans which has been in session here this week, came to a close late yesterday in a most sensational session over the contest for the election of officers.

Following the first ballot for commander-in-chief, it was announced that Capt. Charles A. Simmons of Rochester, N. Y., had been elected by one vote over Captain Charles R. Newton, of Hartford, Conn. The announcement of the total number of votes, however, revealed the fact that five more ballots had been cast than had been checked off. The ballot was declared illegal and pandemonium prevailed. Commander-in-Chief Hale threatened to have certain members removed from the hall, and upon the statements of both candidates that neither wished to profit by any complication and only wanted fair treatment, the confusion subsided.

A second ballot was taken, which resulted in the election of Captain Charles R. Newton of Hartford, Conn., who received 182 votes, to 173 for Captain Simmons.

The other officers elected were as follows:
Sectior vice commander-in-chief, Charles E. Stroud, Sandusky, O.; junior vice commander-in-chief, Moses R. Deyan, Indiana; sergeant-general, Capt. Edward H. White, Chicago; paymaster-general, S. T. E. Hayes, Colorado; commissary-general, Henry E. Schindler, New York; chief of engineers, S. R. Cohen, Lexington, Ky.; chief signal officer, Theodore Wall, New York; chief of ordnance, J. J. Hellberg, Wisconsin; chief of artillery, Captain Adna G. Clark, Kansas; chief mustering officer, William D. Wild, New York; national historian, Captain J. Walter Mitchell, Washington.

The installation of officers followed and last night the veterans with the members of the Ladies' Auxiliary participated in a military ball in the new State armory at Cambridge.

OFFICERS CHOSEN

BY THE UNITED ORDER OF COLORED ODD FELLOWS

HAVERHILL, Sept. 4.—The annual convention of the Grand and United Order of Colored Odd Fellows of Massachusetts, which was begun in this city yesterday, was concluded last night with a ball in City hall. At the business session yesterday officers were elected as follows:

District grand master, James R. Hain, Haverhill; district grand secretary, James I. Epps, Cambridge; district grand treasurer, W. H. Tyler, Lynn; district grand director, H. J. Harvey, Springfield.

This afternoon a parade was held with about 1000 men in line, and was followed by an outing at York Club grove.

The next convention will be held at Cambridge in 1909.

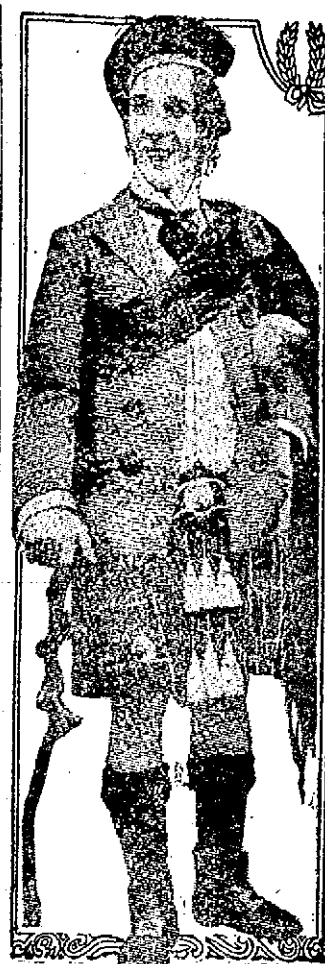

NOTICE

Miss Loughran and Miss O'Neill, formerly with Mrs. A. J. Loughlin of High street, have opened new dress-making parlors under the firm name of Loughran & O'Neill at Colonial building, Central street, room 63, where they will be pleased to meet their friends and customers.

A COMEDIAN

Gets $5000 a Week on Stage

NEW YORK, Sept. 4.—The engagement of Harry Lauder, the famous Scotch comedian, for an American engagement at a salary of $5000 a week caused a stir in theatrical circles. Cable reports say Lauder's manager had denied that the comedian's salary was to be $5000 a week, but New York theatrical men thought the denial was prompted by fear of the British income tax law.

PROF. A. S. WATKINS

NOTIFIED OF HIS NOMINATION BY PROHIBITIONISTS

ADA, O., Sept. 4.—Before a large audience last night Prof. Aaron S. Watkins was officially notified of his nomination as the candidate for vice president by the national prohibition party. The event was made the most of by the citizens and political partisanship was laid aside temporarily in the honoring of an esteemed townsman.

Robert Patton of Springfield, Ill., who was temporary chairman of the national prohibition convention, delivered the formal notification address.

When Prof. Watkins arose to respond the vast audience was on its feet cheering and waving hats and handkerchiefs, while little girls presented the candidate with huge bouquets of flowers. The ovation lasted several minutes.

Prof. Watkins was frequently interrupted by applause. He read a telegram of encouragement from the prohibition standard bearer, Eugene Chaffin, which again brought the audience to its feet.

Cooking-Ranges

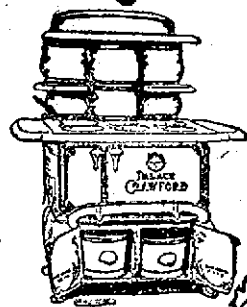

Our New Range a Hit!

"Palace Crawford" for large families, and "Castle Crawford" for average use.

The useless End Hearth is omitted. The ashes fall into a HOD far below the fire, which makes their removal easier and the grates to last longer. The Coal and Ash Hods are of the same size, and the Ash Hod when emptied can be returned full of coal. There is also more room on top.

SENATOR BORAH

SPOKE AT A REPUBLICAN RALLY IN BANGOR, MAINE

BANGOR, Me., Sept. 4.—The first republican rally here in this campaign was held in City hall last night, when an audience of about 1500 people heard speeches by U. S. Senator William E. Borah of Idaho, on national issues, and by Assistant Attorney General Warren S. Philbrook of Waterville, on state issues.

Senator Borah dwelt chiefly upon the accomplishments of the republican party in the development of the country's resources and wealth, contrasting its record with that of the democrats. He addressed himself at some length to criticism of Bryan's policies and principles, and declared that one might as well try to reason with an anarchist as to persuade Mr. Bryan that his ideas, if carried into effect, would result in disaster.

FINANCE BOARD

REPORTS ON CONDITIONS IN REGISTER'S OFFICE

BOSTON, Sept. 4.—The finance commission sent its report to the mayor last night regarding its investigation of the register of deeds office of Suffolk county. It finds that in the last election years the expenses have increased 50 per cent while the increase of business, measured by the fees received, was only five per cent. The commission recommends that the legislature be petitioned to increase the fees, that the expense of clerical force be reduced, competitive system be used in securing supplies, all appointments be subject to civil service rules, and that the register submit an itemized report of receipts and expenditures with a written estimate of amounts required for the coming year to the appropriating body.

GENERAL CONFERENCE

Of the District Epworth League Opened in Boston

BOSTON, Sept. 4.—The sixth biennial convention of the First General Conference District Epworth league opened a three days' session last night at the Bromfield Street Methodist Episcopal church. Rev. Frank Hamilton, Ph. D., chancellor of the American university, presided over the opening session. An address of welcome for the city was delivered by Mayor George A. Hildard and for the Methodists by Rev. John Galbraith, district superintendent. The response was made by the president of the conference district, Rev. Charles L. Leonard, Pittsfield. The address of the evening was delivered by Rev. Charles L. Mead, D. D., of Newark, N. J., his topic being "Personal Power."

LOWELL TOOK SECOND

Lynn's New Pitcher Was Pounded

Very Hard

Lemieux Does a Fine Batting Stunt While the Team Played An Errorless Game

In the second game Warner and Lemieux did the stunt for Lowell and McCreehan and Daum did similar honors for the visitors. Shea was sent to right field to take McCreehan's place.

FIRST INNING.

In the first inning Wallace hit to Cox and was out at first. Warner covering the base. Barton fled to McCreehan. Gardner then sent the ball over the right field fence for a homer. Daum fled to Magee.

In the latter half of the inning Vandergriest got a free pass. McMahon hit to first. Vandergriest tried to make third and was out. Magee got a base on balls but was out in trying to steal second.

Score—Lynn 1, Lowell 0.

SECOND INNING.

Cummings sent the ball into right field for a three bagger and Ort followed with a single to right field, scoring Cummings. Ort tried to make second and was out. Shea and Lovell fled to Magee.

In the latter half of the inning Howard drew a base on balls. Beard struck out and Howard attempted to steal second, but fell by the wayside.

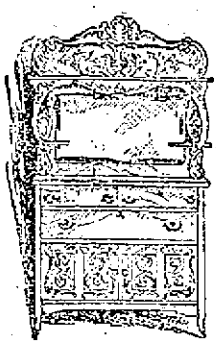

PRESCOTT ST. BARGAIN SHOE STORE

SHOES FOR THE SCHOOL CHILDREN

The place to get the shoes is at Mike Schwartz, where you can get shoes at almost half price. They are strong and rugged and will wear longer than almost any other shoe made. Our expenses are small and our profits also. We are working all the time repairing shoes at our Prescott and Palmer street big bargain store. Being in the children and we will let them.

PEOPLE NEVER TIRE

At least, they don't seem to of our Fresh from the Oven Coconut Cakes. Of course there are reasons. They're as represented, fresh and absolutely pure also. The price may be some object, for a dozen. Choice fancy package goods from best makers that are fresh or you get your money back. Howard, the druggist, 197 Central street.

My! What a Stock You Carry.

"I had no idea you had such a large place. You wouldn't think so by looking at the outside!"

We hear such remarks so often that we think we had better lay more stress in our advertisements on the immense floor space we occupy. Two entire buildings, three stories each, filled with the latest designs in FURNITURE, CARPETS, STOVES, etc. All strong in style, quality and character. We can please the most fastidious, and at prices 25 to 50 per cent. less than Boston prices. Before buying any Household Goods, look our stock over. It will be to our mutual benefit.

A. E. O'HEIR & CO.

MERRIMACK SQUARE.

Malton 2, Howard and McCreehan. Stolen bases—Vandergriest and Lemieux. Double plays—Ort and Lovell; Daum and Gardner; Warner and McMahon. Left on bases—Lowell 5, Lynn 2. First base on balls—Ort, McCreehan 3. Struck out—By Warner 4, by McCreehan 4. Time—1:15. Umpire—Connolly. Attendance—650.

DIAMOND NOTES

Nothing doing until later day afternoon at 4 p. m. The game is delayed until 4 to accommodate the fans who will be at the auto races.

It tickled the fans to see "Billy" McMahon at shortstop. Billy fielded nicely, but was not particularly strong at bat. He held the Virginia State League at the bat this season, and that's going some.

That boy Lemieux is certainly showing some fine stock work. Yesterday he got a single, double and triple, while the day previous he batted out two doubles.

Yesterday was Catcher Foster's birthday, and in honor of the event he was allowed to catch the first game.

Jim Wallace, from the home of great ball players, South Boston, is bawling the ball all over the lot for Lynn, just as he did when he and Tom Katterly, also from "our place," won the pennant for Haverhill. Wallace reports that big Jim Maroney has been signed by Baltimore. Claude O'Neil, formerly third base for Lowell, has a fine position at the Hub and plays with Rockland on Saturdays.

McCrehan hit to Vandergriest and was out at first. Wallace hit to Wolfe and met a similar fate. Barton singled, but Gardner hit to right field and Beard nabbed the ball.

Cox drew a base on balls and Lemieux hit to Gardner, forcing Cox. Warner hit to McCreehan and was out at first. Vandergriest drew a base on balls and McMahon fled to Lovell.

Score—Lynn 2, Lowell 0.

THIRD INNING.

McCrehan hit to Vandergriest and was out at first. Wallace hit to Wolfe and met a similar fate. Barton singled, but Gardner hit to right field and Beard nabbed the ball.

Cox drew a base on balls and Lemieux hit to Gardner, forcing Cox. Warner hit to McCreehan and was out at first. Vandergriest drew a base on balls and McMahon fled to Lovell.

Score—Lynn 2, Lowell 0.

FOURTH INNING.

In the fourth inning Daum struck out. Clemens singled, Ort hit in front of the plate and was out at first, while Shea fled to Howard.

Magee hit to Gardner and was out at first. Howard fled out to Clemens. Beard hit to McCreehan and was out at first.

Score—Lynn 2, Lowell 0.

FIFTH INNING.

Lowell got right into the game in the fifth and scored four runs.

Connor opened the fifth inning for Lowell with a high fly that was caught by Clemens. Cox got a base hit. Lemieux hit to deep left for three bases and Cox scored. Warner hit to Lovell, who fumbled. Lemieux scoring. Vandergriest got a hit. Warner going to third. Vandergriest stole second, and he and Warner crossed the plate a moment later when Magee fanned. In the meantime McMahon had fanned and Howard was the third out on a fly to Ort.

SIXTH INNING.

Lynn's final tally came in the eighth. Mr. McMahon fled out to Vandergriest. Wallace hit for three bases and forced on a hit by Barton. Gardner hit to Connor, forcing Barton at second. Daum struck out.

Lowell got two in the eighth. Connor got a hit. Cox fanned after making several efforts to bunt. Lemieux hit for two bases and Connor went to third. Warner got a single, scoring Connor. Lemieux going to third. Vandy tried to steal second and was out. McMahon went out, Lovell to Ort. The score:

GREAT WRESTLING

Prokos and Hansen Bout Was Called a Draw

The finest wrestling match from every point of view ever held in Lowell, was that between Young Prokos of this city and Fritz Hansen, the Swedish champion for the welterweight championship of America, in Associate Hall last evening before a large and representative gathering of business and sporting men who were unanimous in the opinion that the match was of the most order and one that would do much to boost the sport in Lowell.

The men wrestled for the entire receipts, side bet and the championship, and they had posted a forfeit to weigh 148 or under. In his anxiety to get under the weight Hansen brought himself down to 144, while Prokos weighed in at 142.

While the Prokos followers offered 100 to 50 on the Greek, a majority of those present expected to see Hansen turn the trick and were convinced that he would during the first hour when Prokos was doing all the work with Hansen on the defensive and taking things easy. They believed that Prokos would take himself out and would be easy meat for the Swede after an hour or more had gone by and the dourly little Greek opened their eyes as to his ability and staying power.

The men went 2 hours and 30 minutes without a pin fall. Prokos got a flying fall, but it didn't go with Referee Gilman, who, by the way, was a feature himself, and at the end it was apparent that the Greek had a slight advantage. The bout started at 9:20 and at midnight Sergeant Crowley called attention to the fact that the day for which the license had been granted had passed into history, and Referee Gilman immediately declared the contest a draw. Both men left the ring reluctantly, each desiring of continuation. After the match Mr. Canis, manager of Young Prokos, challenged Hansen to a match in private this morning for a side bet of $50, but Hansen's manager, who was in public looking upon the affair as a business standpoint, had been appeared in perfect condition though as the match proceeded it was evident that Hansen felt the most of the four rounds he had taken out. The men and the crowd respect for each other's prowess and went at each other cautiously. They remained on their feet nearly as long as when they got on the mat, but certainly went at it as hammer and tongs.

Referee Jim Gilman of Lawrence made a big hit with the crowd, and the management did well in securing his services. He demonstrated completely the fact that a wrestling bout can be run properly if the referee only knows his business. All roughing and other feeling were carefully eliminated as Gilman threatened to disqualify the offender, and they couldn't do anything unobserved by him.

After the match, Messrs. Barker and Hennessey were congratulated on all sides for providing such a fine attraction. For particulars, two middle wrestlers entertained. They were probably not more than 7 or 8 years old, but they showed wrestling ability that was surprising. The crowd was immediately pleased with their work.

Joe Condu defeated Harry Melrose in 14 minutes and 35 seconds, and the bout proved exciting. Condu wasn't as strong as Melrose, but he was more scientific, and he finally worked his opponent into a bad box, then put on the power fall force.

Young Jenkins of Worcester, one of the cleanest wrestlers that the Lowell fans have seen, threw Jack Fisher of Albany, N. Y., twice in about 14 minutes. Young Jenkins outclassed Fisher.

"Old Sport" John Turner held the watch in his usual accurate and able manner.

TWO LOWELL MEN

Wilder and Hylan Star in Golf Play at Rye Beach

RYE BEACH, N. H., Sept. 4.—Leading amateur golfers of Massachusetts and New Hampshire, as well as several players from the Metropolitan district and other communities who are summer residents here, competed yesterday in the annual open amateur golf tournament of the Abenaki club, an organization of men conspicuous in business and promoters of clean, high-class sport, particularly golf. The club's course, charmingly located, swept by ocean breezes on one side and skirted by woodland on the other, is a nine-hole links of 244 yards, but there is no more sporty nine-hole course it is an exceptionally good test of golf. Several of the players, can testify to this after having played in the qualification. For example, Henry J. Wilder, of Lowell, after having played the course in record figures in practice, had a medal card of 82 above 85 in the first round at match play, and he qualified with an 85.

The tournament will continue through today and Saturday, when the final match at 35 holes will be played for the Abenaki cup, a magnificent trophy, on which P. W. Whittemore of the Bruce-Burns and Brookline country clubs has twice had his name engraved, in 1905 and 1907. If he wins the trophy this year he becomes permanent owner of the cup. Other winners of the trophy are Evelyn Piermont Cobb in Chicago in 1902, George Carter of Haverhill in 1903, James L. Bachelor of Littleton in 1904, and W. R. Thurston of New York in 1905. In addition, each year there will be given to the winner a solid silver miniature cup and to the runner-up a silver cup. Other cups will be given to the winner of the defeated eight in the first 15 and in the winner of the defeated eight in the second 15, contested for at the same time and under the same conditions as those governing the match play in the first and second sets.

P. W. Whittemore won premier honors of the first day's play. He qualified with a score of 81, the lowest in qualification, and in the first round at match play in the first 15 he defeated P. Pomeroy of the Abenaki club by a score of 8 up and 3 to play, incidentally having three 4s for the last three holes for a 76. Two other players, H. H. Wilder and J. R. Hylan, qualified in the first set and both won their first round matches, though Wilder had a hard match with E. R. Cuendet of the home club, the match going to the home green, Cuendet losing an opportunity of squaring it by overdriving.

the 18th hole of 2 24 yards. Hylan had the second best score in the qualification, an 82, and in the first round played steady, consistent golf, defeating W. H. Leece of Abenaki in a one-sided match.

DRIVER ESCAPED

HE JUMPED FROM WAGON JUST IN TIME

Haverhill, Sept. 4.—Joseph William, a teamster, escaped death yesterday by jumping when a pair of horses he was driving was struck by a passenger train at a grade crossing in the yard of the Taylor-Goulden company in the Bradford district.

One of the horses was killed and the other is expected will not recover. William was heading dirt to fill the wheel from the town high school lot and he had changed a load and was standing when the accident occurred. He did not see the train approaching until his horse was on the track.

The two animals were pushed off the track, one dying instantly. The crashing wagon the accident occurred is at a cross and the train was controlled by a mail shed as it was slowing down as it approached the Haverhill bridge station.

BILLERICA

Forest F. Collier of Billerica, has, as a justice of the peace, called a special town meeting for Sept. 14 in order to consider the proposition of paying for the two horses purchased by E. W. Twombly when he was highway surveyor. The matter has gone through the courts and the edict handed down was that the town was not liable. The surveyor was ordered some time ago to turn the horses over to the original owners, but this has not been done as yet.

FRENCH POLICY

In Regard to the Moroccan Affair is Made Known

BERLIN, Sept. 4.—The French policy in Morocco has been interpreted in this city as designed gently to manoeuvre Germany out of any direct part in Moroccan affairs with the ultimate purpose, supported by Great Britain of acquiring that paramount position which was the object of France previous to the Algerian conference. The French aims are regarded today as being precisely what they were before Germany brought about this conference, and they come therefor into conflict with the present determination of Germany. This also may be described as exactly what was held previous to the Algerian conference, namely, the independence of Morocco politically and commercially with no superior position for France or any other power.

KILLED IN DUEL

Mock "Affair of Honor" Resulted in Tragedy

MOBILE, Ala., Sept. 4.—William O. Sossaman, a 17-year-old white boy, was killed last night by Henry Leech, aged 16, in a mimic duel. Several boys were playing in the yard when one of them produced a revolver. Leech is said to have gone into the house and secured another and proceeded to unload it as he thought.

As the mock "affair of honor" was about to be enacted Sossaman in heroic fashion ran between the principals. At that moment the pistol held by Leech was discharged killing Sossaman. Leech is being held pending action by the coroner's jury.

The Opera House yesterday afternoon and proved to be an exceptionally interesting play in which the company all appeared to excellent advantage. Harry Moore as "Mr. Drake" and Anna Leon in the role of "Grace Royal" being especially good. Last night "Carmen," an excellent dramatic version of this well known story, proved to be of sufficient interest to attract a large audience. Miss Leon in the title role gave a strong and finished performance of the part. Tom McNeal as "Don Juan" and Harry Moore as "Mendez," and D. E. Bonn in the role of "Don Juan" were excellent. The remainder of the cast were adequate to the demands of their respective parts. The specialties by Fowler, the mop roller, Harry, Moore and John McKenna, Marcia Williams and Ernest Glanville which were introduced at each performance, were pleasing features of the program. The plays for today are "Lost to the World" for the matinee and "My Mother-in-Law's Mishaps" for the evening performance.

ACADEMY OF MUSIC

Amateur night tonight at the Academy of Music, and "The Belle of Richmond" will be the main feature. Next week's attraction will be K. K. Thibault's "The Young Wife." Next week a contest to decide the most popular girl in Lowell will be the following Saturday night at the Academy of Music. Each person attending is entitled to a ballot. A ballot box will be placed in the foyer where votes may be deposited. The winner will receive a beautiful lady's gown and the patroness simply need mark the contest on the ballot and the contest will begin with the special matinee on Labor day. "The Young Wife" next week's attraction is a particularly strong play, and will be the first time in Lowell. It will be the only stage and dances are now on sale.

HATHAWAY'S THEATRE

George Homan, who makes the splendid comedy of "A Night with the Poets" at Hathaway's this week, is quite noted for putting on his acts. His "Country Kids" seen here last season constituted a feature act. In the present instance readings from the better known masters of poetry are beautifully given by James H. Reeves, while a quartet of more than ordinary excellence appears to great advantage in the scenes. "Lancaster" who plays the "Capt. Lancaster" in "The Order of the Bath," is one of the best "silly boys" Englishmen seen here in years. Miss Burt's acting is also capital. The other acts are: "Paganini's Ghost," singing and dancing; "Herman and Rice," comedy sketches; William Court, Scotch comedian; "The Armour and Nestor," in characters. Moving pictures are supplied by the theatre.

Performances will be given every afternoon and evening during the remainder of the week.

THEATRE VOYONS

"Second only to the Passion Play," is the comedy "Samson and Delilah." Pathé Bros' new biblical picture now being shown at the Theatre Voyons. The story of the birth and early life of Samson form the first part of the picture. Then the feat of carrying the gates of Gaza is realistically shown. Samson in the coils of Delilah is next pictured but after once escaping from her webs he is finally shown of his strength-giving hair is cut and becomes an easy victim to the enemies of his country. He is blinded and compelled to turn a big wheel to thresh grain. Soon, however, his strength returns and when he is summoned to the heathen temple he surprises his captors with his renewed strength. Groping his way to two massive pillars supporting the roof he overthrows them and with hundreds of others seems to be crushed to death.

Office, Old Boston & Maine Depot. Storehouse and Commission Rooms, Green Street. Tel. 1485.

Tomorrow, Sept. 5, at 3 P. M.
COTTAGE HOUSE AND ABOUT 4100 SQUARE FEET OF LAND AT 24 GERRISH AVENUE.
On the premises regardless of any condition of the weather I shall offer for sale this cozy little seven-room cottage with four rooms on the side walls. The house has been recently built and is laid out in such a manner as to make a cozy little home for someone who wants to locate where they will get the good country air. There is a nice yard with a well in same. Gas has been recently put in the street. The property is within one-half minute walk from the Pelham line of electric and within four minutes' walk from the car line on Main-street road. There is a half acre of land adjoining this property that can be purchased at a very reasonable figure if the purchaser desires a larger place.
Terms: $160 to be paid to the auctioneer as soon as struck off.
By order of JOHN DAWSON.

MORTGAGEE'S SALE
OF A TWO-STORY HOUSE AND STORE NUMBERED 258 LINCOLN STREET, COR. MAIN, LOWELL, MASS., SATURDAY, SEPT. 5, AT 3 O'CLOCK P. M.

On the day and hour above I will offer for sale, by order of the mortgagee, a two-story house and store, located on a very good corner. The property comprises a six-room house, large hall room, gas, etc. In very fair condition; in the basement is a good sized room, where one could if so desired, inasmuch as it is on a corner and the house situated high, renovate and make it very attractive. There has always been a large return from this store, and this place should appeal to all parties paying rent who would like a home, where they could very easily conduct a small business in addition.
Terms: $200 to be deposited with the auctioneer as soon as the property is struck off. Other terms made known at the sale.
By order of the Middlesex Co-operative Bank.
By WILLIAM D. BROWN, Treasurer.

Thursday afternoon a special bargain day and giving a show one hour and a half long for the usual price.
Dumont & Ayotte in their excellent dancing act are attracting many people. Fontaine as a special attraction for Thursday did a lot of tricks in balancing that won him much applause.
The songs "In Germany" sung by Babe Curry and "Dear Heart" by J. C. Bell are very well liked.

Boyle Brothers will have the exclusive sale of drinks at the great auto races, and the people at the grand stand will not have to go thirsty as there will be a generous supply of Boyle Bros' celebrated Ginger Ale and Gloria Water, of which they are sole agents; also all other kinds of carbonated drinks so that people who attend the races are sure to get the best of everything made, as Boyle Bros. use none but the purest of spring water in the manufacture of their famous carbonated drinks, also pure fruit flavors.

Orville Wright is today endeavoring to secure material with which to repair the runner which was broken in landing from yesterday's flight and a flight may be made at Fort Myer tomorrow morning.
The conditions which Orville Wright will have to fulfill with his aerobane in order to secure $25,000 from the government are extremely severe and doubt is expressed as to whether the Wright Bros. can fulfill the requirements of the specifications.
Orville Wright is confident that he will all that is required by the contract. He says that if he had been higher in the air during yesterday's flight he could have corrected his error without coming to earth. In the official record he must ascend to a height of 200 to 400 feet at certain points. This will be much higher than and navigator has yet dared to go with a heavier-than-air machine. It may be several weeks before the official flights for speed and endurance are made.
